HOOVER SERVES NOTICE HE WILL VETO VETS' BILL

Calls It Unsound and Too Costly.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 22.—[Special.]—On the eve of its passage by the senate tomorrow, President Hoover today warned congress that he will veto the world war veterans bill not only because it would add to an already indicated deficit of more than 160 million dollars in the federal treasury this year, but would also force a sharp tax increase at the next session of congress.

The President's warning was given in a letter to Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader in the senate, and was accompanied by copies of letters to the President from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, in which both of the latter officials emphatically disapprove the legislation.

Fears Additional Taxation.

"We have stretched government expenditures in the budget beginning July 1 to the utmost limit of our possible receipts," the President wrote to Senator Watson, "and have even incurred a probable deficit, principally for the relief of unemployment through expansion of public construction. Every additional dollar of expenditure means an additional dollar in taxes. This is no time to increase the tax burden of the country. I recognize that such considerations would carry but little weight with our people were the needs of our veterans the issue, and were we dealing with sound measures; but, as Gen. Hines presents, there are conclusive reasons for opposing an unsound measure which is against the best interests of the veterans themselves and places an unjustified load upon the taxpayers at a time every effort should be made to lighten it.

"I do not believe that just criticism or opposition should arise to such suggestions upon full understanding of the situation for I know that the great body of patriotic men who served in the world war themselves recognize that there are limits to expenditure and there are principles that should be adhered to if we are not to prejudice their interest both as veterans and citizens."

Liberalizes Allowances.

As passed by the house, the measure to extend the presumptive period for diseases until Jan. 1, 1930, and otherwise liberalizing the allowances to disabled veterans, would add directly to present expenditures for veterans at least 181 million dollars the first year, increasing annually until it reached possibly 400 million dollars a year.

As amended by the senate committee and scheduled for passage tomorrow it would increase present expenditures for veterans by 102 million dollars the first year ultimately reaching an addition of 225 million dollars a year.

"Mr. Mellon states," declared Mr. Hoover in the letter to Senator Watson, "that the passage of this legislation implies positive increase of taxation at the next session of congress. It does not appear that these bills even represent the real view of the various veterans organizations. The American Legion after careful study as to what they considered the needs of their fellow veterans, proposed legislation which would require an additional annual expenditure of $80,000,000 per annum. These measures which are before congress represent an implied increase in expenditure of from three to ten times what these veterans themselves consider would be just. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and other organizations have contended for measures differing entirely from those now proposed.

Hines Disapproves Measure.

"Gen. Hines has pointed out that this legislation goes far beyond immediate necessities and that of even minor importance, it creates grave inequalities, injustices and discriminations among veterans resulting from the methods adopted or extended in these bills, and creates future dangers to both the public and the veterans. The very fact that the committees of congress and the various veterans associations have themselves been during the past six months of many minds upon these questions indicates their extreme difficulty.

"There certainly comes from it all

KAVANAGH SEES EXECUTIONS AS BEST RESTRAINT

Prescribes Remedy for Chicago.

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—Judge Marcus Kavanagh of the Superior court of Chicago, who went abroad a month ago at the invitation of the British parliament to advise a special committee of the house of commons on criminal penalties, returned today.

He said that he saw little possibility at present of capital punishment being discontinued in Great Britain.

Although Judge Kavanagh is in favor of the death penalty for murder, he said there were some countries and states where it is not necessary. The Scandinavian countries do not require it, he said, because of sparse settlements, of the homogeneous population, and the general law abiding qualities of the people.

Conditions Vary.

In the United States, he said, North and South Dakota, Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont do not need capital punishment. On the other hand, Michigan, which has not capital punishment, needs it greatly, and so does Kansas.

With regard to the high homicide rate in the large cities of the United States, Judge Kavanagh said:

"We need to educate not only the people, but the judges and juries as well, to a sentiment which will approve of a criminal's being made to pay the penalty.

"The judges who are most popular are those who are the most lenient. When we awaken to respect of law and have juries and officials who will not look first for an excuse for the criminal, then we can talk about the wholesale abolition of capital punishment."

Capital Punishment Deterrent.

Judge Kavanagh, who has been on the bench for 32 years, said he had found capital punishment a decided deterrent. When executions go up, he said, the homicide rate goes down. In 1920 Chicago had 385 homicides, but with 14 executions that year. The homicides fell to 190 the following year.

The low number of executions in New York and Chicago, he said, almost amounts to the abolishment of the death penalty. He pointed out that there were only five or six executions in New York to 428 homicides. In Chicago, there were 421 homicides and four executions.

Contrasting the conditions in communities where sure capital punishment follows murder, Judge Kavanagh said that, while 485 homicides were committed in two years in Detroit, there was not one in Windsor, Canada, which is directly across the river.

England Punishes Criminals.

The judge said he asked an eminent English justice, Sir Travers Humphreys, why England's homicide rate was so low, and he replied: "When we bring a criminal to trial, and the jury finds him guilty, every one in the court—judge, jurors, and spectators—want and demand to see him punished, and so does every citizen in the land."

Last year there were only 21 homicides reported in London, he continued. Of these three were new born children, killed by deserted mothers, who received prison terms; seven who committed homicides committed suicide; four were proved insane; six murderers were executed and one imprisoned for life.

England has wiped out predatory murder, Judge Kavanagh said, by strictly enforcing the death penalty.

Chicago Needed Awakening.

The killing of Alfred Lingle, reporter for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the judge added, was the kind of high handed act that the situation in Chicago has been waiting for.

"Only something like this, which brings home to the citizen that it might have been their son or brother," he said, "can stir the people of Chicago to the seriousness of the necessity of fighting crime."

Judge Kavanagh said he expected to leave for Chicago tomorrow on the Twentieth Century.

Nancy Leiter, the Widow of Campbell, Dies

Santa Barbara, Cal., June 22.—[Special.]—Following an illness of several months, during which she went to England in the hope of regaining her health, Mrs. Colin Campbell, the former Nancy Leiter, died today in Broadsfair, England, according to a cable received by friends of the family.

Mrs. Campbell was the wife of the late Colin Campbell, British army officer, and a daughter of the late Levi Z. Leiter, pioneer department store owner in Chicago. She was a sister of Joseph Leiter, prominent as a broker and wealthy grain dealer, and also a sister of the Countess of Suffolk and Berks, the former Daisy Leiter. She is survived by two daughters and a son, all of whom made the journey to England and were there at the time of death.

Ranch a Show Place.

The Campbell family came here in 1919 and purchased one of the largest ranches and homes in this district. It is one of the show places in southern California, located near Goleta, seven miles north of here. The mansion is built along the architectural lines of an old feudal castle. Colin Campbell, the father, died in 1923 and is buried in a family burial plot on the ranch.

Friends expect the body of Mrs. Campbell will be returned here for burial.

Mrs. Colin Campbell was a figure in the famous Leiter estate suit, which began before Judge Denis E. Sullivan in the Chicago Superior court in 1926 and lasted for a year. She sided with her brother, Joseph Leiter, whose management of the $30,000,000 estate of their father, Levi Z. Leiter, was attacked by their sister, Lady Marguerite Hyde, countess of Suffolk and Berks, in a suit demanding an accounting and the removal of Leiter as a trustee.

Mrs. Campbell took the stand and defended her brother's policies in handling the estate, declaring that their father had approved of the manner in which his son managed the family properties. Judge Sullivan ruled in favor of Leiter and Mrs. Campbell in the suit, deciding that Leiter was to remain trustee of the estate.

Brilliant Wedding.

Mrs. Campbell, then Miss Nancy Lathrop Carver Leiter, was married to Campbell, a British army officer, in 1904 at Washington, D. C. The wedding was one of the most brilliant affairs of the social season at the capital. After several years residence in India, where Col. Campbell was stationed, with his regiment, the Central India horse, the Campbells returned to England, and in 1919 came to the United States and purchased the estate in Santa Barbara county, California, and settled there.

Col. Campbell died in 1923, shortly after Lady Hyde started the litigation that culminated in the estate hearing in Chicago. In 1925 Mrs. Campbell regained her United States citizenship.

Pastor Leaps 13 Floors to Death in Hotel

As a squadron of army airplanes from the war show circled last night over the loop, Clarence E. Singleton, 46 years old, a Baptist minister of Faribault, Minn., stood on the fire escape landing on the thirteenth floor of the Y. M. C. A. hotel at 826 South Wabash avenue, where he had had a room for three days.

Roofs of adjacent buildings were filled with spectators. No one paid any attention to Singleton until some one shouted, "Look out!" He had leaped into space. His body hurtled over and over, striking a girder half way down. It rebounded on to a wire screening protecting a skylight, when it catapulted to the ground. He was dead when the police arrived.

Evidence of Mental Struggle.

In his room was evidence that he had been struggling with some secret problem of conduct. There were two entries in a notebook. One read:

"I have confessed doubt to my wife. We are all either lost or saved sinners."

The other: "I have come to Chicago to suffer for my wife and baby. I have neither made my body and soul, nor destroyed them. I will atone for them.

"I have been two different persons all my life. I still have the Bible, and my Savior. Life is precious, and if I have ignorantly or blindly lost my loved ones, I only ask God's mercy. Any wrong I have done, I confess to God and my wife."

The Rev. George W. Kehoe, pastor of the First Baptist church of Faribault, whose assistant Singleton was, said he could offer no explanation, when reached last night by long distance.

"Mr. Singleton was highly respected in the community, and I always regarded him as unusually happy and contented."

A Devoted Couple.

Singleton lived with his wife and their four year old baby girl in an apartment house. The landlady said they were a devoted couple.

Mr. Singleton was also employed as an instructor at the state school for the deaf. Victor Skyberg, the superintendent, said he had been on a two weeks' vacation trip to Stanford, Ky. He should have returned to work last Saturday.

That Singleton had contemplated returning to Faribault was indicated by a ticket found in his effects. It was for one way passage from Chicago and was bought yesterday.

Colonel's Heir Tips the Scales at 7¾ Pounds

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—A son was born this afternoon to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's father, Dwight W. Morrow, in Englewood, N. J., the event falling on the twenty-fourth anniversary of the mother's birth.

The child's arrival was announced soon after 3 p. m. and later word was sent out that the infant weighed between seven and one-half and seven and three-quarter pounds and that he and the mother were doing well.

Within a short time newspaper bulletins and radio broadcasting stations were sending the message to every corner of the world and newspaper offices instantly were flooded with countless telephone calls from women eager to learn the name of the baby.

Messages of Congratulation.

Mr. Morrow, his wife, and other members of the family were at home when the baby arrived, but Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, the flyer's mother, was not. She was expected to come from her home in Detroit soon.

Within an hour congratulatory messages began to pour in. Messenger boys sweated up the long road on bicycles, carrying damp envelopes in their hands.

A few friends drove in, but only those known to the guards were admitted through the gate. There was a steady stream of outsiders who had heard the news over the radio. Many residents of Englewood, in a sort of pilgrimage, drove up to the gate, looked through the heavy trees, and drove away, smiling and contented.

Name of Doctor Not Given.

The name of the physician who attended Mrs. Lindbergh was not included in the announcement of the child's arrival, but Dr. Walter Philips of Englewood, who had been in attendance, was not in the house when the child was born.

Village housewives recalled with amazement that Mrs. Lindbergh had flown with her husband on many of the long trips since his memorable nonstop flight from New York to Paris.

Only last Thursday she flew from Hasbrouck Heights to Hartford, Conn., and since the wedding on May 27, 1929, she had been her husband's companion on flights to South America, on two coast to coast trips and on a flight last fall over the Mayan ruins in Yucatan. Last Easter Sunday she made the record transcontinental flight from Los Angeles here, with only one stop, in the plane with the colonel.

The obscure mail pilot of 1927, who flew solo from New York to Paris and into the gallery of world celebrities, met the girl who was to become his wife when, after having been fêted by the republic of France and his country, he was invited to fly to Mexico City as a good will gesture toward the neighboring republics to the south.

Guest of Ambassador.

During Col. Lindbergh's stay in Mexico City he was the guest of Ambassador Morrow, and, although the idol of thousands of beautiful women, was attracted to the quiet raven-haired daughter of his diplomat host. He made several subsequent trips to Mexico City and interested Anne and her elder sister, Elizabeth, in flying. His courtship was marred by one airplane accident, on Feb. 29, 1929, when, taking Anne aloft at the Mexican capital, his plane lost a wheel and, although Lindy made a dexterous landing, the plane turned over and his shoulder was injured. His fiancée was only shaken up.

In the following May they were married in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

OAK PARK BANDIT SLAIN TRYING TO ROB 2 POLICEMEN

A well dressed unidentified robber was shot and instantly killed early this morning when he tried to hold up two Oak Park special policemen at Fair Oaks avenue and Iowa street, in a residential section of the suburb.

A few minutes previously the bandit had held up E. T. O'Brien, 193 Marion street, connected with Armour & Co., and robbed him of his watch and $1 as he was putting an automobile in the garage of Charles Einfeldt, 1025 Euclid avenue, president of the Avenue State bank of Oak Park, with whom O'Brien had just returned from a trip to Lake Marie, Ill.

The two policemen, Boland Mitchell and Joseph Koler, were seated in their automobile eating lunch when two robbers appeared, one on either side of their car, with the demand, "Stick 'em up!" As one of the robbers opened the automobile door Mitchell fired and the bandit fell dead with a bullet through his heart. The other robber and a third one, who had remained some distance away, escaped.

In a pocket of the slain robber was found an identification card issued by the Hertz Drivurself company, which rents automobiles, to William Karvanek, 5825 South Troy street, Chicago.

$400,000 EXTRA PROFIT CHARGED IN SCHOOL BIDS

Equality of Prices Puzzles Board.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The school board is considering the award of contracts for a new Lane Technical High school, which some trustees say contain excess profits of $400,000 to $500,000. Ernest Withall, business manager, in an official statement to the board says the building will contain the following rooms:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | Assembly hall | 3 | Lecture rooms |
| 1 | Bakery | 2 | Music rooms |
| 1 | Bakery testing | 1 | Orchestra room |
| 1 | Band room | 13 | Orchestra practice rooms |
| 1 | Bicycle room | | |
| 1 | Blue print room | 1 | Library |
| 2 | Chorus rooms | 1 | Lunch room |
| 1 | Civics room | 1 | Natatorium |
| 51 | Class rooms | 1 | Observatory |
| 1 | Clinic | 2 | Photographic rooms |
| 3 | Composing rooms | 1 | Office suite |
| 5 | Drawing rooms | 1 | Teachers' room |
| 1 | Editorial room | 20 | Laboratories |
| 1 | Greenhouse | 68 | Shops and testing rooms |
| 4 | Gymnasiums | 1 | Typewriting |
| 1 | Laundry | 2 | Study rooms |

Besides these, there are to be art rooms, band practice rooms, laboratory work rooms, and R. O. T. C. rooms.

Bids Called Too High.

The board's architect, Paul Gerhardt, estimated the cost of the building at $6,500,000. The low bids received on each class of work total $5,061,285. On the basis of these figures, Mr. Gerhardt's estimate was 28.4 per cent too high, if the bids are considered fair. But some of the trustees consider $5,061,285 as excessive. One said that a reasonable price would be $4,600,000, and another said $4,500,000. On that basis of comparison Architect Gerhardt was off more than 40 per cent.

The acceptance of the aggregate bid of $5,061,285 has been recommended by Mr. Withall and by Mr. Gerhardt. But the board's building and grounds committee decided to recommend the rejection of all bids, except those for excavating, masonry, terra cotta and cut stone, so that the construction might be started.

Instead of asking the board to reject the bids, however, Theophilus Schmid, chairman of the committee, introduced a motion to defer action and this was passed at the last board meeting.

Board Left Free to Act.

It is therefore parliamentarily possible for the board at its next session to award the contracts which two trustees have said are $400,000 to $500,000 too high.

The evenness of the bids for electrical work submitted by the losing bidders attracted the attention of board members. One low bidder, the Hub Electric company, submitted a price of $452,750. This company's five competitors, all acting independently of each other, submitted bids which varied only $230 on a job involving, they said, $500,000. The figures of the six bids are as follows:

| Contractor— | Bids. |
|---|---|
| Hatfield Electric Co. | $500,000 |
| Wadeford Electric Co. | 500,110 |
| Fries-Walters Co. | 500,118 |
| Harmon Electric Co. | 500,223 |
| Oscar M. George Co. | 500,230 |
| Hub Electric Co. | 452,750 |

"Do you believe it is possible for five bidders to calculate the cost within $230 of one another on work they say should cost $500,000?" Trustee Schmid was asked.

Says Offers Are Too Close.

"They were pretty good figurerers, or something else happened," replied Mr. Schmid.

"Do those bids look queer to you?"

"They are too close," said the trustee.

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Trustee Blatchford made a motion in committee to reject the bids," said Trustee Schmid. "I don't think the board will approve of all the bids we have. The bids on electrical work and steel are too high."

"How much too high?"

"We had a subcommittee make an outside investigation of costs and their report shows that these bids are $200,000 too high."

Brandenburg Gives His View.

Trustees Carter Blatchford and Lewis Myers were out of town but Trustee Walter H. Brandenburg, another member of the investigating subcommittee, was asked his position on the bids.

"They do not look good to me," he replied.

"How do the contractors explain how they obtain almost duplicate bids?"

"They say that they employed an estimating concern."

"Will the board approve the bids?"

"I do not forecast what the board will do. I shall certainly vote against the bids."

Asked her position, Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, another trustee, said:

"The bids are too high by $500,000. We must conserve the board's funds and build more school houses."

Caldwell for New Bids.

President H. Wallace Caldwell also was asked about the bids. He replied: "The buildings and grounds committee decided at its last meeting to reject all bids and readvertise."

"But the board deferred action," he was reminded.

"Some of the bids are too high, by perhaps $400,000," Caldwell resumed. "We appreciate the lack of employment and are desirous of going ahead as fast as possible. But we cannot award contracts on bids which are out of line with present day prices.

"We have awarded the contracts for the excavating, masonry, and other items so that the work can be started. Officially we will celebrate the breaking of ground on Tuesday at Addison street and Western avenue, the site of the new structure, but the steam shovels are already at work. The contracts for other work will not be awarded until the bids come down."

SLOT MACHINE WAR TAKES TWO BROOKLYN LIVES

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—Two members were playing billiards in the Italian-American Tammany club in the Bensonhurst section of Brooklyn this afternoon when an automobile pulled up to the curb before the club, two men got out, ignored the sign "For Members Only," and disappeared within.

A short time later firemen heard shots and saw the two men dash from the clubhouse, climb into their car and speed away.

Behind them, near the billiard table, lay John Sciametta, a former convict, with two fatal shots in his head. Near the door lay Frank Luccarrelli, 30, a bookmaker, with two bullets in his chest and one in his leg.

Detectives found in the pockets of Sciametta some numbered slot machine cards, and Police Captain John J. Ryan quickly decided that a resumption of Brooklyn's slot machine warfare was responsible for the shootings.

NAVAL ZONES OF THREE TREATY POWERS SHOWN

U. S. Control Ends Near Own Coast Lines.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 22.—[Special.]—One of the most important phases of the forthcoming debate in the senate on the naval limitation treaty will revolve around the extent to which the cruiser settlement the American delegation accepted at the London conference will restrict the area of our sea power on both coasts.

In connection with this situation there will figure information that Great Britain and Japan were determined to force down our eight inch gun cruiser strength chiefly for the purpose of maintaining their superiority in battle cruisers, of which the United States has none.

A map explanation, which will be brought to the attention of the senate, graphically portrays the situation produced by the London treaty with respect to the areas of cruiser control in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans possessed by Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

Dividing Line in Atlantic.

In the Atlantic a line drawn north and south approximately following the fortieth degree of longitude indicates the point of cruiser equality between America and Great Britain under the terms of the London treaty. With the cruiser strength alloted her by the treaty Great Britain would control the Atlantic east of that line and America that portion west of the line. If British cruisers passed west of the line American cruiser strength would be preponderant. If American cruisers passed east of the line British cruiser strength would be preponderant.

The line of cruiser equality is established by consideration not only of the allocation of 18 big and 17 small cruisers to the United States compared with 15 big and 35 small ships to Britain but of the distance from the naval bases of each country from which the cruisers would be operated.

South America Exposed.

Opponents of the treaty call attention to the fact that the line of cruiser equality terminates on the south at a point on the north coast of South America. As a result there is left within the area of British cruiser control the entire east coast of South America, including that of Brazil, a principal source of supply of manganese, an indispensable ingredient of steel manufacture. In time of war, it is pointed out, Great Britain would be in a position to shut off this vital necessity from the United States.

Had the United States been allowed the 23 eight inch gun cruisers already voted by congress, or even the 21 for which President Hoover was contending up to the time of the conference, the line of cruiser equality would extend considerably to the east of South America, and the Brazilian manganese supply would be well within the American zone of cruiser control.

Narrow Strip in U. S. Control.

When battle cruisers are taken into account, the line of cruiser equality is removed far to the west, skirting the Gulf of St. Lawrence and passing through Haiti and the Caribbean sea. This reduces our area of cruiser control to a narrow strip along our eastern seaboard and makes Great Britain dominant in virtually the entire Atlantic.

Battle cruisers are capital ships under the Washington treaty classification. They are speedier but more lightly armored than battleships. Possessing no battle cruisers, America has no ships of equal speed except ordinary cruisers. An eight inch gun cruiser would be no match for a battle cruiser. In fact, according to naval experts, a battle cruiser could dispose of three eight inch gun cruisers at one time. But at the same time three eight inch gun cruisers would be able to dispose of the battle cruiser. They would sink each other.

A Problem in Mathematics.

Therein is found the real reason for the long fight of the British admiralty to force upon the United States a radical reduction of its eight inch gun cruiser strength, according to the opponents of the treaty. Great Britain has four battle cruisers. The more eight inch gun cruisers the United States were allowed the less preponderant would be that portion of British naval strength attributable to battle cruisers. At Geneva Great Britain sought a limitation of 12 to 15 inch gun ships for each of the two nations. At London we got 18 to Britain's 15, but with the proviso that only 15 would be completed before the expiration of the treaty.

Situation in Pacific.

In the Pacific ocean the line which shows the point at which cruiser equality would be established between the United States and Japan, were the 5-3 ratio of the Washington treaty to prevail, places in Japan's area of cruiser control the Philippines and the island of Guam, which would be suitable for a great American naval base between the Hawaiian islands and the Philippines. At the Washington conference Japan agreed to accept a 5:3 ratio applying to all classes of ships, in consideration of the agrement of the United States to waive the right to develop a base at Guam and to strengthen or establish new bases in the Philippines.

Under the London treaty, which raises the American-Japanese cruiser ratio to 10:7, the line of cruiser equality is advanced eastward. And if battle cruisers, of which Japan has four, are taken into consideration, tho line of cruiser equality takes a big jump eastward, almost to the Hawaiian islands, the only base we are allowed to maintain off our Pacific coast.

A Wartime Picture.

In time of war Japan would be able to shut off not only our rubber supply from the Philippines, but our tin supply from the Dutch East Indies.

Another line, extending from Kamchatka to Chile, indicates the point at which cruiser equality between American and Great Britain would be established under the London treaty on the assumption that the British battle cruisers would not be used in the Pacific.

Alcock and Norton Scan Bureau Roster.

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. The information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503, Temple Building, 77 West Washington street, telephone State 3729.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock and Chief of Detectives Norton yesterday were scanning the names of the 900 men now assigned to the detective bureau, selecting the 200 who will remain there. The order returning 700 detectives to uniforms and to patrol duty is expected either today or tomorrow.

Both Alcock and Norton said they had not decided who is to stay at the detective bureau. At the bureau it was believed that practically all of the lieutenants in charge of squads and details may remain, since there is a surplus of lieutenants in the department and every district now has three lieutenants, one for each shift. The lieutenants at the bureau in the main comprise those who have won promotion through heroism and conspicuous service.

Ten Chiefs in 15 Years.

Acting Commissioner Alcock said it has never been deemed advisable to select a chief of detectives through civil service, although he agreed that it would be for the best interest of the city if the chief of detectives had some assurance of permanency in office.

The names of ten men who have been chief of detectives during the last fifteen years were recalled yesterday. They are John Stege, William O'Connor, William Schoemaker, Michael Hughes, James L. Mooney, Charles Larkin, P. D. O'Brien, John J. Halpin, William O'Brien, and Nicholas Hunt. The average term was about one and one-half years.

"If one man could have held that job ever since prohibition he would certainly have been able to solve many of the gang murders that have given the department so much trouble," Alcock said. "Each commissioner of police, however, feels naturally that he ought to have his own chief of detectives, some one he can trust. I have such a man in John Norton."

Norton Pleads for Coöperation.

Chief Norton and Deputy Chief John Egan were at their desks yesterday. They were concerned with a few shootings of Saturday, with the culling of the roster, and with the activities of their subordinates asigned to the investigation of the murder of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter.

Chief Norton said he deplored the broadcasting of names of men said to be hunted as the murderer and as suspects. He again asked coöperation in not disclosing the progress of the authorities pending the arrest of the men under investigation.

"We are not sending out the usual police messages to arrest so and so for murder nor are we printing names or pictures in the police bulletin," Norton said. "When we need the aid of the police of other cities we ask for it confidentially and we hope we will not be hampered through the gratuitous advice to gangsters that some one or other is being hunted."

Police Chase Auto Gangs.

Sergt. Arthur Murphy and his bureau squad reported two encounters with criminals in automobiles. Early yesterday they saw a car without a license containing two men. They turned to question the occupants of the car which immediately started off at top speed.

The police chased the other car seven miles over west side streets, firing at it as they went until in front of 794 Laflin street the fugitives crashed into a light pole and escaped on foot. There were four bullet holes in the rear of the car, the ownership of which was not learned yesterday.

Later, Sergt. Murphy said, his squad pursued another car containing three men who escaped on foot after they abandoned the machine at Washington boulevard and Green street. The car's license had been issued to Patsy Clementy, 909 Sholto street, which is the home address of Louis Clemente, a Capone gangster who has figured in election disorders in the 20th ward.

Terry Druggan Questioned.

Returning to the Lake county resort country yesterday for the first time since the Fox Lake massacre of June 1, Terry Druggan, whose brother, George, was among the wounded in the machine gun murder of three others, was taken into custody at Lake Zurich by George Stried, chief investigator for State's Attorney A. V. Smith. He was questioned for an hour at the prosecutor's Waukegan office and released. Neither he nor Col. Smith would discuss the questioning.

Visits Sick

Milwaukee, Wis., June 22.—[Special.]—The friendship which began when Francis Kilkenny, a green Irish boy, entered his service as office messenger, today caused Gen. Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to the Court of St. James's, to take the hot Sunday trip, 90 miles and back, to visit Kilkenny, now a patient in the Sacred Heart sanitarium here.

Gen. Dawes made no other visits in the city. He went direct to the sanitarium, visited for an hour or so with his friend, was greeted by a number of other Chicago patients there and returned to his home in Evanston.

Mr. Kilkenny now is an investment broker in Chicago, which business he entered after having advanced rapidly in the service of Gen. Dawes. He became Lieut. Kilkenny as Dawes' aid in the war and was his office manager in the campaign of 1924.

Alcock Orders Stray Dogs Shot; 3 Children Bitten

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock last night reiterated to the police an order to shoot on sight all unlicensed stray dogs. Three children were bitten by unmuzzled animals during the day. The victims are Thomas Hoey, 5 years old, 2614 Gladys avenue, attacked in the back yard of his home; William Stewart, 11 years old, 659 O'Brien street, bitten as he passed an alley at Halsted and O'Brien streets, and Catherine Bephune, 9 years old, 907 North Kariov avenue, bitten by a neighbor's dog.

CITY'S CHURCHES TO LAUNCH WAR ON CRIME TODAY

Fact Finding Committee Will Be Announced.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

After a week of planning, Protestant churches of the city are about to launch their campaign against lawlessness and crime. This noon the political action commission of the Chicago Church federation is expected to act on a resolution adopted last Monday to establish an investigating committee composed of five ministers and five laymen. Hearings by this committee will be held, and city officials, newspaper men and others who may shed light on the crime situation that was climaxed by the murder of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, will be questioned.

It was reported last night that several members of the investigating committee have already been chosen. The personnel will be announced after today's meeting. It is planned that hearings will begin tomorrow.

A Fact Finding Committee.

The Rev. Phillip Yarrow, chairman of the political action commission, explained that the investigating committee's work will consist in finding the facts in the alleged alliance of politics and crime.

Church leaders declare that the churchmen of the city do not propose to let the public concern raised by Lingle's murder die down until all available facts are obtained and corrective action suggested. Various denominations have taken independent action. Pronouncements were read in most Presbyterian churches yesterday. A call was made for Presbyterian cooperation against the forces of gangdom. Baptist ministers have pledged unqualified support to the program of the Church federation.

Other Pastors to Act.

Simultaneously with the meeting of the political action commission of the Church federation today, the United Lutheran pastors will hold a meeting to organize a movement to strike at the "gang politics hookup."

Methodist Episcopal pastors, through the Monday Methodist Preachers' meeting, recently created a crime and politics study committee. Leaders of this committee are the Rev. Almer M. Pennywell, Ravenswood Methodist Episcopal church, and the Rev. Dr. John Thompson, Chicago temple.

According to the Rev. John H. Williamson, another member of the group, the Methodist committee is ready to report at once. However, the report will be withheld until the campaign for the fall elections, when many county and state officials are to be chosen, he said. The Methodist committee had been organized before the Lingle murder occurred.

McBRIDE CALLS CHICAGO CLEAN DESPITE GANGS

Minneapolis, Minn., June 22.—(AP)—With all its gangsters and racketeers Chicago is a clean city compared to what it was before prohibition, F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-saloon League of America, declared tonight in an address at Wesley Methodist church here.

"I am not forgetting the gunmen when I say that Chicago is a new city under prohibition," Dr. McBride said. "The roots of the gangs go back to the days of the saloons. Prohibition did not create gangs, but it did drive them into the open and has offered the federal and civic government an opportunity to get at them.

"The evils of the liquor traffic are here because of liquor and not because of prohibition. Prohibition would not be here if there were no evils in liquor.

"Nearly all of the present day crimes growing out of the liquor traffic can be traced to a big minority that is defiant of law, and is doing all it can to prevent prohibition from prohibiting," Dr. McBride said.

ATLANTIC CITY MAYOR, 3 OTHERS DIE IN CAR CRASH

Absecon, N. J., June 23.—(AP)—Anthony M. Ruffu Jr., mayor of Atlantic City, two unidentified women, and a man believed to be Assemblyman Anthony J. Siracusa were killed when a train struck their automobile early today. Ruffu was identified by papers in his pocket and by shreds of his clothing.

The mayor's sedan was struck in the center by a southbound Pennsylvania railroad express at the Mill road crossing here. Wreckage was strewn for more than 100 yards.

Mayor Ruffu had just finished the short rest he took after he was acquitted by the Atlantic county grand jury recently of charges of illegal practices in connection with the placing of municipal insurance. Siracusa was a close friend of the mayor's and often went on trips with him.

Melville Davisson Post's Condition "Very Grave"

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 22.—(AP)—The condition of Melville Davisson Post, author, ill for two weeks in a Clarksburg hospital, was termed "very grave" tonight.

FIREMEN HELP KENNETH AND HE HELPS SELF

Capt. James E. O'Neill of hook and ladder company 14, 918 West 19th street, called yesterday at the Canalport police station for a word with the desk sergeant. He said:

"Man for man, my outfit is the best bunch of smoke eaters in this town. They don't stop at anything. They would die with their pants and boots on at a fire; or they would have before Kenneth Thompson of Detroit drifted into the station.

"I'm a kindhearted fellow. I never turn down a deserving bum. This Thompson said he was hungry, and ambitious to be a big city fireman. I fed him and lodged him for two weeks. Now he's gone, and he's cleaned out the station of every stitch of uniform. If my boys answer an alarm they'll have to go in their B. V. D.'s."

CHICAGOANS COOL AT BEACHES AS ILLINOIS BAKES

While downstate sweltered yesterday in the warmest weather of the season thus far, Chicagoans enjoyed a comparatively cool holiday. Thousands swarmed to the park beaches in advance of their official opening next Saturday.

With the thermometer recording a mean temperature of 77 degrees here, heat records were shattered in southern Illinois. The official maximum at Cairo was 98 and at East St. Louis 102. Unofficial marks of 105 at Centralia and 110 at Anna, Ill., were reported. Fair and slightly warmer weather was predicted for today.

On account of the crowds of bathers, 30 life guards have been stationed at Lincoln park beaches and 20 others will be assigned this week. South park beaches will have no life guards until Saturday and the municipal beaches none all summer, due to lack of funds.

TARIFF AND DRY LAWS ISSUES IN FALL ELECTIONS

Prohibition Grows More Important.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 22.—[Special.]—The tariff and prohibition are the prospective major issues in the November congressional elections. In some states the fighting between the Republicans and Democrats will be chiefly over the tariff, in other states prohibition, and in still other states both.

Linked with the tariff will be the business depression dating from the stock market collapse last year. A business depression is always bad for the party in power and the Democrats are going to make the most of this one. The new tariff act which has just brought increased duties into effect is going to be the hero or the villain of the piece. If times improve before the election the Republican tariff will get the credit. If they become worse the tariff will be blamed.

Curtain Raiser for 1932.

The prohibition fight will be a curtain raiser to the struggle in both parties over this issue in 1932. The drys are faced with a widespread reaction against national prohibition and will be lucky to hold their present strength in the senate and house both of which are overwhelmingly dry. The Rev. F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, claims that not a single dry seat has been lost in the primaries so far. The wets are claiming several gains, including the seat of Representative Franklin W. Fort [Rep., N. J.], a leading dry, the Republican and Democratic candidates to succeed whom are both wet.

It was Fort who after being defeated by Dwight Morrow, advocate of prohibition repeal, for the Republican nomination for senator from New Jersey by 300,000 votes, remarked that "The Literary Digest poll was evidently correct." The wet leaders now have their eye on a number of other states which The Digest poll disclosed to be about as wet as New Jersey. One of them is Illinois in which they believe the popular revulsion from national prohibition will enable former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, wet Democrat, to defeat Ruth Hanna McCormick, dry Republican, for the senate. The dry leaders have two reasons for believing Mrs. McCormick will win, notwithstanding the reaction against prohibition. One is that Illinois is an overwhelmingly Republican state. The other is their confidence that the women will turn out en masse to put her over.

Massachusetts is another state in which there will be a showdown of sentiment on the prohibition question. The first test will be in the Republican primary, in which Eben Draper, wet, is opposing former Senator William M. Butler, dry, for the Republican nomination for senator. If Butler should win prohibition would be the paramount issue in the election, for the Democratic candidate will be wet.

The Republican state convention in New York will stage a struggle between the wets and drys over the platform declaration on prohibition. The New York county Republicans are going to the convention demanding a plank advocating repeal. The Democratic convention will write the platform on which Gov. Franklin Roosevelt will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President in 1932 if he is reelected this year. Interest attaches to the degree of wetness he will allow the New York Democrats to espouse.

Dry Office Holders Nervous.

The nervousness on the prohibition issue of dry senators and representatives who are candidates for reelection is being manifested in various ways. Some are coming out for a prohibition referendum. It looks now as if the senate would be spared the embarrassment of voting before the election on some of the highly controversial measures included in the Wickersham commission's law enforcement program. These measures have been passed by the house and are pending in the senate judiciary committee, which intends to hold them over until the winter session.

The principal one of these measures to provoke criticism is that to extend the powers of federal court commissioners by permitting them to hold juryless hearings in prohibition cases, invasion of the constitutional rights of trial by jury. This bill is one of a group of measures intended to reduce the enormous congestion of prohibition cases in the federal courts.

The bill creating a unified border patrol under the treasury department combining prohibition, immigration and customs has been reported favorably by the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce and is scheduled for passage before adjournment.

NEW YORK TAXICABS ON A PUBLIC UTILITY BASIS, IS FORECAST

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—Mayor Walker's commission on taxicabs will soon begin to formulate its report and recommendations, it was learned today. Although the commission has given no inkling as to even tentative findings, it is known its members have given consideration to the plan of placing the entire industry here upon a public utility control basis, involving limitation of the number of cabs and requiring certificates of public convenience and necessity.

In this connection the commission faced the problem of dealing with the 9,000 individual operators owning their cabs. It has studied carefully the cooperative plan under which the Checker Cab corporation of Chicago has welded a group of owner-drivers into a compact, profitable and responsible operating organization.

POLISH VETERANS TAKE PART IN MILITARY SHOW

Thousands of Chicagoans of Polish descent attended the war tournament at Soldiers' field last night, designated as Polish night of the military show. The flag of Poland was raised and veterans of that country's wars paraded in their uniforms. Two Polish heroes, Pulaski and Kosciusko, were honored in the fireworks display that is a part of each evening performance at the exposition. Among the guests in the reviewing stand was Aleksander Szczepanski, Polish consul general in Chicago.

Tonight the Union Jack will wave at the war show. A salute of 21 guns will be fired, and Godfrey Haggard, British consul general for Chicago, will acknowledge it. Veterans of British colonial wars will parade.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson and Mrs. Emmerson were guests of the tournament last evening. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area, which is conducting the show, entertained for them at a dinner at the Stevens hotel.

A highlight of yesterday's activities was a series of sham aircraft attacks, in which planes and a newly arrived army dirigible from Scott Field, Ill., maneuvered above downtown Chicago. Two five minute chukkers of polo were played by teams from the 124th and 122d field artillery.

Endurance Pilots Pass 274th Hour and Fly On

Droning evenly over Sky Harbor airport, the endurance plane City of Chicago yesterday carried its pilots, Kenneth and John Hunter, past their own endurance mark of last summer and zoomed toward the 420 hour world record of the St. Louis Robin. At 2:40 o'clock this morning the City of Chicago completed its 274th hour of continuous flight.

WEST PARK COP DIES IN CRASH IN BORROWED AUTO

High School Girl Killed in Second Accident.

Two persons—a west park policeman and a high school girl—were killed and four others suffered serious injury in two spectacular automobile collisions, one occurring before daybreak yesterday and the second shortly before midnight last night.

Speeding south in Halsted street at 4:30 a. m. in a 16 cylinder sedan borrowed from a wealthy widow, Patrolman Robert Weiss, 40 years old, 3602 West Harrison street, was impaled on the steering post of the car when it rammed an American Express truck at Congress street.

On Wrong Side of Street.

The truck driver, Harold Fecher, 29 years old, who sustained a leg fracture, and Detectives Harry Brashear and James Dougherty, who investigated the accident, agreed that Weiss had been driving on the wrong side of the street.

Mrs. Clara J. Shepard, 135 South Central Park avenue, informed Capt. Schram of the west park force that she had loaned Weiss the car after he had escorted her home from a party on the north side.

Weiss leaves a widow, mother of two children by a previous marriage, estranged from him and residing at 1632 North Malvina avenue.

Miss Hortense Joan Miller, 18 years old, 4240 Clarendon avenue, was crushed to death in the second collision, which occurred at Forest avenue and Greenleaf street, Evanston, at 11:30 p. m. With Stanley Smith, 21 years old, 706 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, Miss Miller was riding in the rumble seat of a roadster, driven by Charles Rogers, 20 years old, 1026 Grove street, Evanston.

Neither youth was seriously hurt, but Rogers' companion, Miss Thelma Lindstedt, 18 years old, 5063 Glenwood avenue, suffered internal injuries and a possible fractured pelvis. Her condition was pronounced critical at the St. Francis hospital.

Boy Hit; Motorist Caught.

Pursued by another motorist after he had run over 8 year old Charles Zimba, in front of the Zimba home, 3112 West 23d street, Frank Lech, 22 years old, 2300 West 37th street, was picked up by Lawndale police. The father of the not seriously injured boy appeared at the station, signed a complaint charging Lech with felonious assault, and upon confronting Lech found he had made the charge against his closest friend. Zimba accepted Lech's explanation that he was unaware of the accident and sought to withdraw the complaint, but was deterred by the police.

These deaths and that of an unidentified man about 50 years old, who was struck at 13th street and Michigan avenue, increased the county motor toll this year to 428. The third victim, who died shortly after midnight at St. Luke's hospital, was struck by the car of Walter Wood of Antioch, who told police he was an aviator.

SURVEY SHOWS EVASION OF CITY FIREWORKS LAW

Stands Ring Chicago Just Over Boundary Line.

Technically, Chicago has no fireworks for sale this year. Legally, not a Roman candle or cannon cracker is within the city. Actually, a survey showed yesterday, the distance that separates the city from an "insane July Fourth" is just half the width of a street, and that theoretical safety line has been obliterated by the footprints of thousands who cross it each day to purchase the contraband.

Forced out of the city proper by the ordinance prohibiting the sale and explosion of fireworks, the peddlers of pyrotechnics have crept as close as the law allows, and have ringed Chicago around with their stands, the survey revealed. North, west and south, they have chosen spots adjoining the traffic arteries into and out of the city limits, and carry on their trade on the far side of the bordering thoroughfares.

One step, however, has been taken since last year to protect those who refuse to protect themselves against dangerous fireworks. No gasoline stations were noted displaying signs, "Fireworks for sale here," as was common on most of the highways leading into the city last year. This is because of a state law forbidding such sales.

Talking Motion Pictures for the Home

Gives spoken drama, music, action—all the theatre can give . . . . by this amazing new invention

SINCE professional talking pictures, manufacturers have been trying to produce like equipment for the home. A number have been produced. Watching these developments, Almer Coe & Company have sought a model, simple enough for any amateur, not too costly, which yet would give the kind of talking pictures we go to see and hear.

But there were difficulties. Mostly with synchronization (making sound and action simultaneous). Those that worked perfectly were high in price. Manufacturers struggled with that problem. And then came Cine-Voice.

Interested, Almer Coe & Company invited demonstrations.

At first, we could hardly believe our search was ended. Here was more than we expected. We witnessed comedies, dramas, heard operas—saw the note tremble on the singer's lips. Then came the inevitable questions.

How to operate? Was it simple? What would it cost? Would it attach to any projector? All answered, demonstrated, to our satisfaction. Then we took the Cine-Voice, attached it to our own projectors, of several makes. Tested it in every way—were startled, and delighted. Here are the facts:

Met Every Test

Cine-Voice, with a simple connection, attaches to your motion picture projector. Synchronizes perfectly, by positive drive. It plays all types of sound-on-disc motion pictures. Has volume control, and plays through your radio, or any loud speaker.

Like Best Theatre-Pictures

It is complete and ready to play, with any of the following 16 mm. projectors: Victor, Q. R. S., DeVry models B. & C., Eastman models A. & C., and Duograph, motor driven model. With the Filmo, or Eastman Model B, a small extra attachment is required, but with all, the results are the same—full toned reproduction of voice and music, in perfect synchronization with action. If you get it today, you have spoken drama tonight. We have the pictures too. The price is just $95, including handsome carrying case.

We invite you (no obligation) to see and hear the Cine-Voice in any Almer Coe Store. Compare it with theatre talking pictures. Operate it yourself, if you wish. We promise, you will be delighted. Come today.

RECALL PETITION AGAINST DETROIT MAYOR FOUND O.K.

But Injunction Battle Is to Open Today.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—(AP)—Employés of the city election commission today completed checking signatures on the petition to recall Mayor Charles Bowles. They found 93,276 valid signatures of registered voters, or 3,536 more than the number needed to force a recall election.

There still is a possibility, however, that court action may prevent the recall being brought to a vote. Supporters of Mayor Bowles yesterday obtained a temporary restraining order forbidding City Clek Richard Reading to name a date for the election. Tomorrow attorneys for the mayor will go before Judge Arthur Webster of the Circuit court asking a permanent injunction on grounds that taxpayers' money would be expended for the election.

Leaders of the recall movement also will ask an injunction to prevent the mayor and his supporters from using the taxpayers' money in their effort to prevent the recall election.

Fund for Carillon Tower Given North Carolina U.

Chapel Hill, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—A gift of $100,000 to the University of North Carolina by two alumni for construction of a carillon tower was announced today. The donors are John M. Morehead, United States minister to Sweden, and Rufus L. Patterson, New York banker. The tower, to be constructed on the university campus, will be 36 feet square at the base and 171 feet high. It will be a memorial to the Morehead and Patterson families.

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter. If you have a picture of the original sender or the place, inclose it also.

"Viborg is one of the oldest [some maintain the oldest] cities in Denmark," Mr. Waendelin writes. "As far as history goes back, there has always been a city there. It is beautifully situated on two hills and along the shores of two lakes. For centuries the Danish kings had to be crowned there before they were actually regarded as kings.

"The city has always been a religious center. In the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, there were 22 churches and many cloisters, although the town at that time had only about 2,000 inhabitants. The city has burned several times, which accounts for the fact that most of the buildings dating from the middle ages are gone.

"Even now, Viborg is one of the most beautiful cities in Denmark, and thousands of tourists visit it each year. The cathedral is one of the main attractions. It is decorated with frescoes from ceiling to floor, depicting the old and new testaments. The cathedral is said to be the only one of its kind north of the Alps. Viborg is situated almost in the center of the peninsula Jylland, which forms the largest part of the kingdom of Denmark."

Viborg is the capital of the amt or county bearing its name and has been the seat of a bishop since the eleventh century. It is not to be confused with the Finnish town and seaport of the same name.

Order Drive on Speed; Mayor First Arrested

Briar Cliff, N. Y., June 22.—[Special.]—Two days ago the trustees of Briar Cliff Manor ordered the town police to start a war on speeders. First in the net was Henry Law. He got a summons for doing 43 miles an hour but yesterday drew a suspended sentence. He it so happened, is the mayor of Briar Cliff Manor.

What good news this is for the luckless victims of rheumatism. Read what Mr. John Paddison, former miner, of Cary Station, Ill., says of Konjola, the new and different medicine:

"While a miner I contracted rheumatism, and four years ago the pains in my left side were so severe that out of four months I was able to walk but four days. I tried many medicines, but without results. My oldest daughter had found relief from rheumatism, and she recommended Konjola. This was eight months ago. # ZEP RUNS AWAY AND LEAVES ITS SKIPPER BEHIND

Airship Breaks Loose at Hamburg Fete.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 22.—The Graf Zeppelin, on its triumphal trip over Germany after a flight to South, Central and North America, ran away without Capt. Ernst Lehmann and several passengers at Hamburg this afternoon and cruised over northern Germany for two hours. Those of the crew, aboard, hoped to be able to re-land at Hamburg, but finally gave it up and came back to rest at Staaken airfield, near here.

The entire senate of the Free State of Hamburg, the mayor and all dignitaries in solemn garb were presenting Capt. Lehmann a valuable cup in memory of the first landing of the zeppelin at Hamburg, when the stern of the ship went straight up in the air, almost standing the zeppelin on its nose.

The lifting force of the hot air close to the ground was too much for the ground crew, which released the ropes. Capt. Flemming and an emergency crew aboard re-started the engines in time to regain control of the ship.

Capt. Lehmann, Capt. Hans von Schiller, and twenty-five passengers, who had been booked to fly from Hamburg to Berlin, were left gazing skyward. Capt. Lehmann is now trying to charter an airplane, otherwise he will take the first train back to Berlin to regain the ship.

After Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, and other officers had always expressed anxiety about the ability of foreign ground crews to take care of the ship, the runaway of the Graf under much easier conditions than at Lakehurst, N. J., and other foreign airports greatly amused American observers.

From midnight until 7 o'clock this morning the Zeppelin cruised up to Denmark and then over the Berlin region, which she was visiting in honor of the second world power conference. Dr. Eckener left the airship at Berlin, Capt. Lehmann taking command for the Hamburg excursion.

Riots nearly started at the airfield upon its arrival here because the radio company, which was taking care of the musical part of the fête, was using puny grammaphone records to play "Deutschland Ueber Alles" in honor of the Zeppelin instead of the old-fashioned military band music.

MOSLEMS FEAR 'HOLY MAN' WILL START HOLY WAR

Call Convention to Map Own Campaign.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLAHABAD, June 22.—More than any one else the 64,000,000 Mohammedans in India fear the Gandhi movement for independence will result in a holy war and, that in such an event, they will be exterminated by what they call the Brahmin fanatics. Observers say it is for this reason above all others that the British will use an iron hand in India and will not hesitate to reinforce the army of British and Indian troops. This slogan rather than the protection of the British flag or British trade, will be heard from London should the campaign go much further after the report of the Simon commission has been digested, it is believed.

Call Moslem Convention.

Throughout the United Provinces and other portions of India, largely populated by the sons of Allah, the cry already has been raised. Moslems of a large section of central India have called a convention to be held in Allahabad June 29 and 30, when the entire question will be discussed from all its different angles. This will be the first reply to Gandhism, led by India's "holy man."

The convention will represent not only the great Central Province. Leaders have also been invited from Bengal, Bihar, Punjab, and Bombay provinces and presidencies. An invitation has also been sent to leading Moslems in the Jamat-ul-Ulema, Tansia Jamiat Ulela-i-Hind and the provincial Moslems generally. The call states that every Moslem member of municipal and district boards and legislative councils and district assemblies has a right to take part in the convention and vote.

Dominion status is the keynote of the Moslem meeting and the boycott of Moslem merchants and the rough handling of the volunteers under Gandhi's leadership also will be criticized and doubtless officially condemned. The picketing in Allahabad and incidental developments led to the calling of the Moslem convention.

The convention will be preceded by a meeting of the Allahabad Moslem bodies at which Sir Muhammad Shafi will preside and at the general convention, called the Tauzeem conference, either Maulana Muhammad Ali or Maulana Shaukat Ali will be in the chair.

Also Preach Non-Violence.

The Moslems have repeatedly urged against violence and have informed the viceroy to that effect, assuring him of their non-support of the civil disobedience movement and asserting that Gandhi's movement, if it fails, "as it must, will set back the hands of progress by a century and that will mean the blasting of the hopes and aspirations of India for political and economic emancipation."

India's participation in the round table conference in London in October is urged by Moslem leaders, who also wish to repeal the child-marriage act or so modify it as to satisfy orthodox Hindu and moslem opinion.

"Let the government take a calm and dispassionate view of the situation," said Raghunandan Prasad Singh, "and realize in time that if the situation requires a display of strength, it equally calls for the exercise of the truest statesmanship and that repression alone is likely to prove worse than the disease itself.

"Let the viceroy give a definite assurance that the purpose of the round table conference is to devise a scheme for the automatic attainment by India of dominion status within a short period, with suitable safeguards for the protection of minorities like landholders, Moslems, etc., as well as for the satisfactory conduct of affairs during the transition period."

Police Prevent Bombay Parade.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, India, June 22.—Bombay police today assembled in force at Congress hall, preventing the Nationalists from marching on the Esplanade Maidan. Great forces of volunteers lined the streets leading to the esplanade, but police guarded the scheduled meeting place until nightfall with troops assembled from the barracks nearby.

Mrs. Gandhi arrived at Gujrat to join her son today in a great procession held in her honor.

BYRD'S HOME TOWN GIVES HERO EXPLORER SIMPLE WELCOME

Winchester Va., June 22.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd came home today to Winchester, where he is known as "Dick." His home town welcomed him, in obvious contrast to the tumultuous affairs of New York, Washington and Richmond, with a celebration of the quietness and sacredness of home.

Open air thanksgiving services "for the safe return of our heroic citizen, Admiral Byrd," a city resolution said, was the simple welcome.

PAPUA CANNIBALS RAID VILLAGE, DEVOUR VICTIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, June 22.—Cannibals are on the warpath in Dutch South New Guinea, where man eating Papuan tribes raided the village of Atoeka and after a great battle killed every man and child and carried off the women to the interior. A huge festival dinner followed, the cannibals devouring the village victims and also their own warriors who had fallen in battle.

Dutch Indian police forces were rushed to the interior where they caught up with the Papuans and engaged in a series of fights. The cannibals were eventually routed and fled with their dead.

Native runners report that the tribe is preparing to attack several other interior villages near the Mimika river and reinforcements of Dutch police are setting out for the scene.

$300.00 and what it helped this FAMILY do

"I WORRIED so over past due bills," the head of a small family told one of our Managers, "that I couldn't get my mind on my work. I stood in grave danger of losing my job because creditors had begun telephoning and calling on my employer. A friend told me about Household and said my wife and I could get $100 to $300 from you without outside signers."

Our Manager studied this man's case just as he had thousands of similar family financial problems before. He found that the family income was $250 a month and that their normal monthly expenses were $220 a month. They had built up a small savings account which had been wiped out during a recent illness. A total debt of $271 had accumulated in the following way. They owed:

$44.00 Balance on their car—two payments at $22 monthly
55.00 Rent, past due one month
15.00 Balance on their radio—three payments at $5 monthly
51.50 Grocery and meat bill
87.65 Balance on doctor and hospital bill
17.85 Druggist bill

$271.00 Total amount of unpaid bills

A $300 loan was arranged and all the bills paid promptly.

They are now making regular monthly payments on their loan—much less than the payments on their radio and car. Their credit has been reestablished and the husband once more is happy at his work.

Any family in need of $100 to $300 will find Household ready to help with a loan. There are no fines, fees or deductions and no inquiries are made among friends, relatives or employer. A convenient plan will be arranged whereby you repay your loan in from one to twenty months. Charge is made only for the actual time you keep the money and our lower rate saves you nearly one-third.

PRAISE TRANSIT PLAN IN REPORT FOR U. S. COURT

Engineers Will Present Statement Today.

The engineering advisers of the federal court will submit to Judge Wilkerson this morning a report showing "certain benefits that will accrue to the car riders and the public" from the proposed transportation ordinance. The report also outlines certain possibilities in the proposed construction.

The report, written by George M. Wisner, is concurred in by Edward J. Noonan and David A. Wallace. The most sweeping statements are:

"I believe that this ordinance better satisfies the needs of the people of Chicago than any other ordinanee that has ever been presented. I believe it to be as nearly perfect an instrument as can be designed."

Points to Time Saving.

The statement says universal transfers practically insure rapid transit service for the entire city. It asserts that the time saving in trips to and from the loop varies from 10 to 30 minutes and from one extreme section to another from 50 to 60 minutes.

"A conservative estimate of this time saving," reads the statement, "would probably show that in the first construction period of 10 years it would amount to substantially more than the money expended by the city in subway construction."

"The operation of an improved, extended, and unified system will enable the average citizen to reside in less congested neighborhoods."

Compensation Is Discussed.

Regarding compensation, Mr. Wisner wrote: "To increase the compensation paid by the company would increase the fare paid by the car rider. The amount paid, together with the city's traction fund, will make available sufficient funds for the city to carry on a progressive subway construction program."

On another point on which little has been said Mr. Wisner wrote:

"The ordinance gives the transit commission jurisdiction over types of construction and equipment. Intensive studies are now being made by qualified men on the elimination of noise of surface and elevated cars. It is believed that through these studies new equipment will be so improved as to make these operations as nearly noiseless as it is scientifically possible.

Predicts Comfortable Cars.

"The jurisdiction of the commission assures that new equipment will be more commodious and comfortable."

The engineers believe that the subway program for the 10 years will be adequate until the end of that period.

The report finds that if the ordinance is approved construction of the subway can be started by the first of the year. If difficulties are encountered in the State street subway, work can be started on Dearborn street, or portions of both may be built that vance of completion of the program.

Suggest Pedestrian Passages.

Regarding two other ideas which have not been stressed, the statement says:

"Underground pedestrian passageways, extending from Clark street to will greatly increase facilities in ad- Wabash avenue, should be provided. With future construction of subways it will be possible to extend these passageways under the entire downtown district."

Referring to the proposed Lake Michigan island the report finds "the large volume of excavation from subway construction could be utilized without additional cost for the purpose of starting this island."

Unions to Open Drive.

Men and women of Chicago trade unions are supporting the pending car franchise ordinance, according to Michael J. Kelly, the president of the Cook County Wage Earners' league.

Mr. Kelly announced that the trade unions associated with the league have an approximate membership of 350,000, and including units of building trades, street car men, and various locals of teamsters and chauffeurs.

Beginning this week, Kelly said, all Chicago labor unions will be circulated and the members will be urged to vote for the car ordinance on July 1. He says that wage earners will be the greatest beneficiaries in the settlement of the transit question, both in improved daily transportation and in increased employment.

POLICEMAN HIT BY PATROL CAR.

The toes of the right foot of Policeman Robert Roehl, attached to the Desplaines street station, were crushed yesterday when the rear wheel of a patrol car passed over them as the brakes were accidentally released.

Foes of Transit Bill Will Increase Efforts for Final Week of Campaign

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Opponents of the proposed transportation franchise, which they call "a perpetual grant," are to increase their efforts in this last week of the campaign.

"We are getting the defects in this ordinance to the people in an effective way," explained Carl D. Thompson of the Public Ownership league yesterday. "Last week we had three autos on the streets, each for six hours a day, with large signs on them advising the electorate to vote against the ordinance. Beside the driver of each auto was an announcer who told the people, through an amplifier, the demerits of the ordinance.

"We reached from 8,000 to 10,000 persons by each auto, or between 145,000 and 180,000 for the week. Beginning tomorrow we will have four autos on the street and by the end of the campaign will have reached 350,000 to 420,000 persons. In addition we will increase the number of neighborhood meetings."

Reviews Labor Attitude.

S. J. Konnenkamp, who is opposing the ordinance, issued a statement yesterday in which he said:

"In March, 1925, the Chicago Federation of Labor issued the report of its special committee on traction ordinance, of which Ald. Oscar F. Nelson was chairman. That report says:

"'We find nowhere in the ordinance any real guarantee of improved transportation service or facilities. There are numerous provisions for extensions, but with no more guarantees that such provisions will be complied with, than were in the 1907 ordinance. In our opinion the provisions for extensions are inserted to catch votes for the ordiance from people living in the outskirts of the city and who are desperately in need of increased transportation facilities.'"

Is "Equally True" Now.

Then Mr. Konnenkamp comments: "This is equally true of the present proposed ordinance.

"The beneficiaries of this deal [ordinance] are the same people who promised extensions in 1907 that were never built. They are the same people who are now running the rapid transit trains to Niles Center and Westchester at a loss. That loss is made up out of city fares, while the people in the congested districts of Humboldt park and Logan Square have cried for extensions that might bring added revenue, but no private profits from real estate speculations.

"No private contract would be so loosely drawn as to penalties. Chicago is entitled to some guaranty that it may get transportation to meet its needs."

William Hughes Clarke, a dealer in securities, is another opponent who issued a statement yesterday. He protests against giving the new company "unlimited use of the subway forever without any compensation to the city other than a paltry three per cent" on the total gross receipts.

"The greedy applicants," reads his statement, "for this proposed ordinance want to retain for their proposed company 97 per cent of all of the earnings the subway can produce from all concessions of various kinds. These earnings from concessions probably will amount to an immense sum each year aside from and in addition to the car riders' fares. Municipal ownership [the subways are to be city owned] is sought still further by Insull and Fisher, provided all the extensions and improvements that the city and car riders can pay for are donated to their grantee's benefit in perpetuity.

Want Funds for Extensions.

"All of the present traction fund and all of the additions thereto are desired for extensions and improvements to the proposed merger's system. The marger applicants are hungry for every dime.

"Under the proposed ordinance there would be no way to prevent the spending of whatever might be left in the city traction trust fund—after providing for additional salaries and expenses of the transit commission—for unlimited costs of engineering and legal fees and expenses in defending the city's rights under the franchise."

BY FORD WILKINS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, June 22.—Data is being gathered from all available agricultural sources in the world to be used as a basis for a new large scale farm aid plan in the Philippine Islands.

The system, when finally worked out by the best available financial and agricultural experts in the world, will take the form of financial assistance for the small scale Filipino farmer, who when drouths, typhoons, and pests ruin his crops has no haven to turn to excepting the usurer.

Governor Plans Scheme.

This plan is one of the pet schemes of Governor General Dwight F. Davis, who has become newly enthused over the possibilities of making it work.

Edwin W. Kemmerer, world famous "money doctor," who originally devised the Philippine currency system and whose most recent economic conquest lies in his recent survey of China's complicated finances, is helping out. Dr. Kemmerer has written to Governor General Davis inclosing a voluminous report on agricultural finance in Java and India which he investigated on his way home from China. Dr. Kemmerer has been retained as a financial adviser to the Philippine government.

Earle B. Schwulas, former banking commissioner of the Philippines, now a vice president of the Philippine National bank, is constantly studying methods for establishing a credit system in the Philippines which will make the small agriculturalist independent of temporary setbacks and free him from the usurious practises of unscrupulous people in the provinces.

Study Hoover Ideas.

The governor is also in touch with Eugene Meyers, former head of the War Finance corporation and a member of the farm aid board of the United States. Mr. Myers is gathering data on the progress of farm aid in the United States under President Hoover's administration.

The information so gathered will be classified when complete and the best and most adaptable features of similar plans in other countries of the world will be drafted into a workable plan for the Philippines. No comprehensive and thorough attempt has ever been made before to stamp out the usury evil in the islands, although the practice has been the subject of agitation for years.

It is becoming increasingly realized here that agricultural development is fundamentally more important than the long sought economic development of the Philippines. To a certain extent the two go hand in hand, but after all the Philippines are best suited to agriculture. The riches lie in the soil, not in application of modern big business methods to an undeveloped country.

CLAIM VICTORIES ON BOTH SIDES IN CHINA CIVIL WAR

Missionaries Tell of Rebel Successes.

SHANGHAI, June 22.—(AP)—While Nationalist government armies locked with rebel Shansi and Kuominchun troops in Honan province in a new Nationalist general offensive, conflicting claims of important victories on three fronts were made today by both Nationalists and rebels.

In the meantime reliable reports from Hankow told of a general Nationalist offensive against Shansi cavalry and Kuominchun infantry near Chowkiakow, 75 miles southeast of Kaifeng in Honan.

Report 700 Slain.

Previous Hankow dispatches asserted Kuominchun forces north of Chumatien, Honan, on the Peiping-Hankow railroad had attempted a surprise attack against the Nationalists but were repulsed with 700 rebel officers and men killed and 800 captured.

Catholic missionary reports from Honan, however, failed to substantiate Nationalist claims of victory. Instead, the missionaries stated, Kuominchun troops established a strong advancing line slightly north of Chumatien and were moving southward.

Missionary advices also stated rebels led by Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang encountered a large body of Nationalists and inflicted numerous casualties, capturing the commanding officer.

Pony Cavalry Drives South.

It was also reported a strong detachment of Feng's famous cavalry, mounted on Mongolian ponies, penetrated to within 50 miles northeast of Chumatien and began a drive southward, sweeping all opposition before it.

The missionaries said they considered the Nationalist position in southern Honan anything but favorable. Nanking dispatches added Chumatien was packed with troop trains jammed with wounded Nationalist soldiers.

From Suchow, Kiangsi province, came advices that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, despite numerous rumors he was suffering from serious body wounds, was undertaking a renewed general offensive against the rebels along the Peiping-Hankow railroad front and the area traversed by the Haichow-Tungkwan railroad.

Deny Rebel Success.

From southwest Shantung province came seemingly reliable reports stating rebel forces 75 miles west of Tsinan had succeeded in crossing the Yellow river and capturing numerous lesser towns. This in turn was denied by Nationalist dispatches from Nanking.

Conditions in Hunan and Kiangsi provinces were even less clear. Kwangsi forces which June 18 evacuated Changsha, Hunan, were believed to have returned southward. Due to virtual collapse of the telegraph system in Kiangsi, conditions there were obscure. The invading southerners were supposed to be continuing their slow advance toward Nanchang and Kiukiang.

DRIVE SAFELY, SWIFTLY with a CHICAGOLAND MAP IN YOUR CAR!

COMPLETE, compact, convenient, the Tribune Chicagoland map enables you to find new routes to old destinations, plans whole trips for you, makes escape from heavy Sunday traffic easy.

Tribune path-finding cars have been rambling over the Chicago area for months, noting the widths and pavements of main highways, exploring small, winding side-roads. They have checked every grade-crossing, overpass and underpass, calculated mileages, observed landmarks and points of interest.

The Chicagoland map is the result—finest and most complete motoring map ever made of the Chicago district. UP-TO-DATE, it includes a lake four miles long which did not exist until last February. RELIABLE, it indicates every road width and surface. HELPFUL, it shows all forest preserves, golf courses, lakes, streams, airports, with printed indexes to each. SAFE, it lifts a warning signal at every danger point.

Among the innovations in this year's edition is the accordion-fold, which, while preserving the map's original size, enables you to inspect any district of the country surrounding Chicago with only one-sixth of the map open. Another new feature is the careful plotting of curves—a distinct aid to safe driving.

Keep a Chicagoland map in the pocket of your car for safer, swifter, less haphazard driving! Buy one for twenty-five cents (thirty cents by mail) at any of these places:

SENATE ACTION ON RELIEF BILLS DUE THIS WEEK

Early Adjournment Is Predicted.

Senate action on the pending Strawn relief bills for the aid of Chicago and Cook county governments, which passed the house of representatives of the general assembly last week, is scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday, providing enough members of the upper body are present.

To that end, it was predicted yesterday, Lieut. Gov. Sterling is expected to send telegrams to all the senators urging their attendance to make possible a quick adjournment, perhaps Wednesday. Having already amended the revenue article to the constitution —the moot income tax amendment— the senate has little else to occupy its attention save the Strawn measures.

Hold Final Hearing Today.

The Mason senate committee, appointed to learn the state of Chicago's finances, held hearings in Chicago Friday and Saturday, at which city and county officials explained their needs, and the committee will probably carry back a favorable report Tuesday at 4 p. m. when the senate reconvenes. The committee will have a final meeting at the Mid-Day club this morning, to hear technical legal arguments on the bills.

A bill is pending in both houses to create a joint committee to publicize, favorably, the income tax amendment. The bill is on third reading in the house and predictions are that it will not meet with consequential resistance. A November referendum will allow the voters to express their approval or disapproval.

Rockford Range in House.

In the house, the week's session will probably be occupied principally by consideration of the Camp Grant artillery range bill amendment which passed the senate several weeks ago. Representatives from the Rockford district are fighting the placing of the range, both on the grounds that it is unnecessary and that it will be located too close to the city.

Another pending measure is the Lincoln park shore restoration bill, which, originally a part of the Strawn program and subject to a referendum, was stricken from the program last Tuesday and introduced with the referendum clause eliminated. It would grant the issuance of $1,000,000 in bonds to rebuild storm damaged portions of the lake front.

Passage Is Doubted.

Now on second reading in the house, it must advance to third reading and be passed before given to the senate. If the upper house adjourns Wednesday grave doubts are held that the measure can be passed.

HOOVER SERVES NOTICE HE WILL VETO VETS' BILL

Calls It Unsound and Too Costly.

the conclusion that we should either have a sound plan now or should have more time for determination of national policy upon established principles in dealing with these questions for the future. We must arrive at such a basis as will discharge our manifest national obligation with equity among veterans and to the public."

Says Some Relief Needed.

"I do not wish to be misunderstood," continued the President. "There are cases of veterans who are in need of help today who are suffering and to whom I earnestly wish to see generous treatment given. But these situations do not reach anything like the dimensions of these measures."

In his letter to the President Secretary Mellon declared that budget bureau estimates of expenditure and the treasury's estimates of receipts indicate that "the government will close the fiscal year 1931 with a deficit of over 100 million dollars." If the reduced income tax rate is to be retained and applied to 1930 incomes the deficit will mount to at least 180 million dollars, "exclusive of any additional burdens to be imposed by new legislation," the secretary added.

"But," said Mr. Mellon in his letter, "if 100 million dollars or more is to be added to the expenditures already in sight, it is perfectly apparent that the 1928 income tax rates must be restored, and I should not be quite fair to the members of both houses and to the taxpayers of the United States if I did not point out at this time that this increased burden may necessitate even higher rates than provided for in the 1928 revenue act."

Discusses Tax Increase Prospects.

Mr. Mellon pointed out that if the one per cent reduction in income taxes allowed in the last tax bill is not retained next year, 2,095,000 taxpayers with net incomes of $10,000 or less will pay during 1931 approximately $28,000,000 more than they would otherwise. Restoration of the former 12 per cent tax rate on corporation incomes would cost corporations approximately $90,000,000 in income taxes at a time, Mr. Mellon asserted, "when the government should endeavor to relieve rather than to increase the burdens on industry."

"In fairness to the country," Mr. Mellon advised the President, "I feel that the congress should be informed that if expenditures are further increased now, taxes must be increased in December."

Gen. Hines in his letter to Mr. Hoover disapproved the veterans bill on the ground "we are creating a prospective burden for the taxpayer before we have adopted any sound national policy of dealing with the whole problem."

THOUSANDS GAZE ON ROCK WHERE MANIAC HURLED FIVE TO DEATH

New Haven, Conn., June 22.—(AP)—Thousands of the morbidly curious today gazed at towering West Rock from which Raymond C. Spang, demented war veteran, yesterday pitched his wife and four children to their deaths and climaxed the tragedy two hours later by leaping after them.

The bodies of the victims lay today in a morgue while plans were made for their burial Tuesday morning.

The father and mother, Mrs. Gertrude Spang, 34, and the children, ranging in age from three to twelve years, will be laid to rest in a single simple funeral service.

Thousands yesterday saw the man, plainly outlined against the dark brown surface, remove one shoe, cross himself and leap out into the air to land at their feet.

MANIAC SLAYER SUSPECT TAKEN IN JERSEY TOWN

Jersey City, N. J., June 22.—(AP)—A man who police said answered the description of the Queens maniac slayer was arrested tonight on the Hudson County boulevard in North Bergen near "the loop," a favorite parking place for automobilists.

The man said he was William Ernest Cordra, 31. His father, he said, is a railroad conductor and lives in Columbia, S. C.

The prisoner is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 140 pounds. His features, police said, are similar to descriptions of the slayer of two men in Queens.

In his pockets police found a number of papers covered with scribbling, including the combination, "3-X," which the New York killer used as a signature to letters to a newspaper.

FALLS FROM TROLLEY, DIES.

ROTARY OPENS WORLD JUBILEE IN CITY TODAY

Foreign Groups Arrive for Convention.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Twenty-five years old and proud of it Rotary International will take possession of Chicago today, twenty thousand strong. At least, the twenty thousand are expected to be in evidence before the close of the sessions to which the next few days will be devoted. All by way of celebrating the organisation's silver jubilee in the city that gave it birth.

From every corner of the world Rotarians and their "Rotary Anns" were arriving yesterday. By automobile, bus, airplane, and a number of special trains the delegations streamed in, to register at the Peoples Gas building and learn what the program committee had in store for them. Most of the 6,000 early arrivals progressed from the registration bureau to the spacious "house of friendship" in the basement hall of the Stevens hotel.

"House of Friendship."

Transformed into a cool retreat of lounge rooms partitioned off by real fir trees and by balustrades thickly covered with greenery, the "house of friendship" is to be the general rallying ground of the delegates. Various groups have been assigned different nooks in which to congregate. Flags of all the 63 nations that will be represented are displayed along one wall, and a large force of clerks man the information counter where records of the whereabouts of the Rotarians will be available.

Those who traveled farthest for the event were among the first to arrive. The overseas delegation from England, numbering 165 members, reached the city on a special train from New York during the morning. Sunny Italy sent another group of more than twenty who detrained at the Union station before noon. From Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Germany, Holland, Spain, Norway, Switzerland, Japan, China, Bermuda, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, Scotland, Hawaii, Alaska, Argentina, Colombia, Uruguay, and Brazil, other groups had registered last night, bringing the total of foreign delegates up to nearly 300.

Rehearse For Pageant.

While hundreds of Chicagoans rehearsed at the Chicago Stadium for the historic pageant depicting the origin and growth of Rotary to be presented tonight at the opening function, announcement was made at headquarters in the Stevens hotel that the board of directors has agreed to a request of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur to prepare and submit a resolution pledging the individual clubs of this country to combat illiteracy.

Unanimous and enthusiastic adoption of the measure was predicted by President M. Eugene Newson, who received the request from Secretary Wilbur. It will be discussed at a special session.

All the past presidents of Chicago Rotary will participate tonight in the pageants at the Chicago Stadium, which will have a cast of 1,000. Massed choruses and ballets will be features. Crawford V. McCullough, convention chairman, will preside at the plenary session this afternoon in the grand ballroom of the Stevens.

ESTHONIA CHECKS LEARNING DUE TO GLUT OF "BRAINS"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLIN, Esthonia, June 22.—Esthonia, the smallest of the new European states, with 1,100,000 population, is confronted with an over-production of "brains." At present there is a large surplus of engineers, doctors, and lawyers, so with the summer vacation four Esthonian high schools will be closed and the curriculum of seven others will be modified, making it more difficult for graduates to enter the university. The government hopes to enlarge the courses in agriculture and forestry.

Before the war Esthonia produced a large number of university graduates who occupied important posts in czarist Russia. Today emigration to other countries is difficult and although Russia is in desperate need of "brains" the soviet government refuses to permit trained youths from the Baltic countries to enter.

At present in Esthonia there are 20 candidates for every post open and youthful lawyers and engineers are glad to obtain positions paying them $40 a month.

THE TRACTION ORDINANCE. III. THE SUBWAYS.

If the voters of Chicago approve the traction ordinance at the referendum on July 1 subways will be built in the downtown area.

The subways will cost $100,000,000. The traction fund will supply about two-thirds of the money and the rest will be raised by special assessment against the property owners to be benefited.

The principal reason that elevated service in the rush hours is now hopelessly inadequate is the fact that the elevated loop, with only two tracks, must handle all the traffic from all the lines except the few trains which use the stub-ends. At the rush hours the trains are operated as close together as they can be, and still it is impossible to care for the crowds.

Because the loop is congested to the limit elevated extensions cannot be built until more tracks are provided downtown to carry the additional cars and trains which the extensions would require. The first need is for more tracks downtown; and there can be no question of erecting any more elevated tracks in the loop district. Subways offer the solution.

Two subways are to be built within the next ten years. One of them will contain four tracks and will run under State street from 16th street on the south to Chicago avenue on the north. This line will carry all the trains now using the outside track of the loop.

The subways under State street will take all the north-south trains off the loop. The second subway will take the form of a hairpin bent outward. The points of the pin will be at 18th street and Blue Island avenue on the southwest and Chicago and Milwaukee avenues on the northwest. Elevated trains from the Logan Square and Humboldt Park lines, extended, will enter this subway, run southeastward to Ohio street or Grand avenue, then due east to Dearborn or Clark, then due south to Harrison street or Polk street, west to Blue Island avenue, and so southwest to a junction with the Douglas Park and midcity elevated lines.

When this subway is completed the elevated loop will be used only by the Garfield Park and Oak Park lines. All the other west, northwest, and southwest side lines will be accommodated in the Dearborn street subway. Where there are now two tracks in the loop district there will be eight. At the same time the closing of the gaps in Ashland avenue, discussed in a previous editorial, will create a midcity line which will not touch the loop and will relieve the central district of much of the traffic which now is routed needlessly into it.

With added accommodations in the central zone, elevated extensions are to be built in all directions. Engineers estimate that the car riders will be saved twenty-eight minutes in going from Lawrence and Milwaukee avenues to the loop and half an hour in going from the loop to points on 79th street east of Ashland avenue. A man living in Oak Park and working in South Chicago will save forty-seven minutes each way, a total saving of more than an hour and a half a day. Inevitably this improvement in transportation will open up new districts for residence and build up real estate values, and at the same time relieve city life of one of its most unpleasant features, a slow and uncomfortable ride to and from work.

It is, of course, unfortunate that the elevated loop is to remain. The men who framed the ordinance plainly took the same view. They regarded the loop as a present necessity and looked forward to the time when it could be torn down. The ordinance provides a means of doing so when some other terminal accommodations are provided. We will hazard the guess that property owners on Wabash avenue, Lake, Wells, and Van Buren streets will not tolerate the presence of the elevated loop once the advantages of subways have been made manifest.

The details of subway construction will not concern the voters on July 1. The plans and specifications of the subways will be laid down in a separate ordinance which does not enter into the contract between the city and the traction company and is, therefore, not included in the present ordinance. Much progress has already been made in preparing the plans. The voters for the present are to pass only upon the routes and the number of tracks to be provided. The difficult question of determining who is to pay for moving the telephone, electric power, gas, water, and sewer lines in the streets is also left for later determination.

The subways are to be owned by the city, but the city is not to receive rent for their use by the company. This provision has been criticized, but we regard it as sound. The subways are to be built with the car riders' money in the traction fund. Any rent which the company pays for the use of the subways can come only from the fares collected from the car riders. We can see no justification for charging the car riders for the privilege of riding in a subway built with their own money. To do so would be like charging a man rent for the privilege of living in his own home.

The subway provisions of the ordinance we regard as a great advance in local transportation. We should be better pleased if more subway construction was provided, but to have done so would have been to deceive the voters by promising them more than they can get for their money. As much has been specified as the money available will build. The ordinance does not close the door to future construction. On the contrary, it leaves it wide open. The city is to receive each year 3 per cent of the gross receipts of the company, and with that sum it can continue to build subways, if it chooses to do so, and its resources can be increased by means of special assessments on property directly benefited.

Chicago has been demanding subways for a generation. The lack of them is blocking the growth of the outlying sections of the city and is the cause of the inhuman congestion of the present rapid transit lines during rush hours. This ordinance opens the road to modern transportation for Chicago. For that reason it deserves the support of the voters.

THE STRANGE CASE OF MR. SHEARER AND BISHOP CANNON.

An investigation was begun in Washington to blow up William Shearer, the Oliver Twist of naval conferences, for wanting more cruisers, and blow him up well with all his works before another conference was pulled. What happened may be noted as a classic example of the truth that any one may start a senate investigation and no one can tell where it's going. Who could have thought that the desire to take Mr. Shearer apart and leave the fragments for the ashman would get loose and roam all over the place? And who could have foreseen that the principal consequences of these universal activities would be to blow Mr. Grundy of Pennsylvania out of the lobby and into the senate with a tariff bill, and to blow Bishop James Cannon Jr. of Virginia, chairman of the board of temperance and social service, Methodist Church, South, out of all his ecclesiastical appearances, appurtenances, and applique?

No one, and least of all, it may be said, the statesmen who started after Mr. Shearer, expected that the good work would get to any such results as these, and Senator Caraway, chairman of the senate committee, might admit in a more candid moment that if the investigators had known where they were going they would not have gone.

Mr. Caraway and his associated drys on the committee might not have come across Bishop Cannon if they had not thought they could do some notable business by putting a number of citizens opposed to prohibition on the grill. They had nothing from these citizens except frank answers to all questions and accounting without reserve for all money used in the work against Volsteadism. This line of inquiry finally got to the bishop of Wall street, it being discovered that he was the only one who could account for the greater part of $65,300 given him to carry Virginia for Hoover and the drys. And under examination he wouldn't.

The bishop would not answer questions on oath or submit to cross-examination. He got the money, and that is all the committee knows about it. The senators were told to mind their own business; and they have decided to do so, which in its way is the strangest phenomenon of the year in Washington.

Of the five committee members who voted that the bishop is the only witness immune from questioning and secure from contempt proceedings four are sealed to the noble experiment. Mr. Robinson of Indiana is fed his porridge by the Anti-Saloon league and put to bed by the Ku Klux Klan. Mr. Caraway of Arkansas finds his constituents in the treetops denying that they have descended and that they ever will. Mr. Walsh of Montana had a half mind, although a dry, to see Bishop Cannon in the lockup for contempt, but later took a more indulgent view. Mr. Borah, of course, is the noblest experimenter of them all. Mr. Blaine of Wisconsin was alone in his opinion that the bishop should be subjected to questioning, as every other witness before the committee has been.

Nevertheless much is known of the bishop which would not have been known if Mr. Shearer had not been called in for a blowing up. Cannon has been discovered playing the market through a bucket shop firm with a wholly secular zest for worldly profits, seeking loans and advances of his clerical pay to cover the calls on him, devoting part of the Sabbath to wiring his brokers and warning them not to communicate with him at his Washington office because it embarrassed him. This sporting side of the bishop was gaining new publicity by the uncovering of the file of his correspondence when the senate committee hastened to drop the subject.

Mr. Tinkham of Massachusetts transferred it to the house of representatives by submitting to the bishop a list of questions pertinent to his stock transactions and his handling of political funds. It is probable, however, that congress and the administration and the political clerics have had entirely too much of the bishop already.

It has been a notable episode. The dynamite was supposed to be under Mr. Shearer, and Bishop Cannon was found to be sitting on it. That would discourage any good work, even the curiosity of the Conscript Fathers.

Editorial of the Day

THE BIG CITY AND THE LEGISLATURE.

[New York Evening Post.]

A very sensible suggestion is made by the Citizens union in its latest report on the record of New York City members of the legislature. Recalling that the state constitution places the city at a disadvantage in representation by not allowing it the full weight of its population as compared with the population of the rest of the state, the report observes that this disproportion could be in large measure counteracted if the voters in the city districts would seek or draft for nomination and election more persons of broad experience, genuine ability, and mature judgment.

The tendency at present, unfortunately, is the other way. "In fact," says the report, "if the number of poorly equipped city members increases with the years New York City will very shortly find itself practically impotent in so far as direct and effective representation is concerned." Instead of making inevitably ineffectual protests against underrepresentation at Albany the voters of this city should be electing to the legislature men above the legislative average. In consequence of such action they would soon acquire an influence over legislation which would more than compensate for the deficiency in the number of their representatives.

CAUSE OF MILK SICKNESS.

Milk sickness is still a somewhat important disease of man and animals in many parts of the country. The pioneer suffered from it to a degree that we cannot understand. The worst or best we can do is to record a few fatalities among humans and an occasional outbreak among domestic animals in July and August of each year. In the main, it is the farmer and his family who suffer, though the citizens of villages and towns are stricken occasionally.

As the name suggests, it is caused by drinking milk from sick cows. If the milk from a cow with trembles is consumed by the farmer's family, or if it is peddled in town, a trail of milk sickness follows. Many of the cases are fatal. If, however, the milk from a sick cow is poured into a large vat filled with other milk from other sources the chances are the consumers will not be made sick. Milk sickness does not occur among patrons of the larger dairies.

For a long time there was much controversy among scientists as to the cause of the difficulty. Finally it was proved that cows and other domestic animals developed trembles as the result of eating white snakeroot. This is a weed that is not found in well kept pastures. It is likely to grow in wet, shady spots under trees, usually on the edge of the pastures. Animals will not eat this weed until the pastures burn, the weather becomes hot, and the flies are bad. Further studies have shown that the poisonous agent is tremetol. This resin is found in white snakeroot. It can be recovered from the milk of cows suffering with trembles.

One argument used against the white snakeroot theory is that in certain parts of New Mexico and Arizona they do not have white snakeroot, but they do have trembles and milk sickness. Investigation has proved that milk sickness in these sections is caused by rayless goldenrod, and that this plant contains considerable quantities of tremetol. When tremetol is extracted from rayless goldenrod and fed to animals they sicken with trembles.

In milk sickness of both man and animals acidosis is likely to develop. The acidosis is of the same kind as that which sometimes causes coma in diabetes and in pregnancy. This fact suggests a treatment.

The United States department of agriculture has a booklet on rayless goldenrod as a cause of milk sickness.

HAVE DIABETES EXAMINATION.

C. O. writes: Can you tell me the cause of carbuncles returning and also tell me how to get rid of same?

REPLY:

Have you ever been examined for diabetes? Does your work expose your skin to grease, dirt, and infections unduly? Do you poultice your carbuncles or apply fat meat to them? These questions may sugrest methods of prevention. Phage, locally applied, sometimes gives excellent results.

THERE ARE SEVERAL CURES.

F. W. writes: I have been having sinus trouble for several years and have had many operations. I have pus deep in the head. Is there a cure?

REPLY:

Some cases are cured by local treatment, some by the climate cure, and some by exposure to sunlight or other light.

HARD ON THE SKIN.

C. H. writes: Is a solution of alcohol and camphor harmful when applied to the face?

REPLY:

A FORM OF INSANITY.

A. D. writes: What is paranoia, its causes, symptoms, and cure?

REPLY:

Paranoia is a form of insanity in which delusions of persecution are a prominent symptom.

As a rule, paranoiacs are more dangerous to those about them than are those with other forms of insanity.

It is a behavior difficulty. There is no cure except that some subjects can be trained to fit into society.

NO MEANS OF HEATING.

Chicago, June 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Jan. 1, 1930, we rented a four room apartment with gas steam radiators for heat. We signed a lease for one year. About two weeks ago the radiators were taken out by order of the owner. We have no means of heating the flat. We want to move. Can the owner hold us to the lease? L. P.

Absence of heating facilities would not furnish a plausible excuse for moving at this time of the year.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INCINERATOR SMOKE.

Chicago, June 15.—[Friend of the People.]—A large apartment building, third house from me, has an open incinerator about 5 feet high. The people residing in this building are compelled to burn all garbage, which they do at all times of the day. The result is that we have smoke, a terrible odor through the house at all times when windows are open. Can anything be done for relief? B. G. C.

An order was issued to the owner to discontinue burning the rubbish and to abate the nuisance complained of. The department has been advised by the owner of the premises complained of that no more garbage will be burned and the papers will be placed in a wire container so as not to cause charred particles to be distributed in the neighborhood.

These premises will be kept under observation and if at any time nuisance is observed prompt action will be taken to abate same.

FRANK A. CHAMBERS,
Deputy Smoke Inspector in Charge.

DIVORCEE'S NAME.

Chicago, June 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a woman who has been divorced use her maiden name again? 2. Or does she still have to continue using her marriage name? 3. When voting does she still use her marriage name? M. E. B.

1. Yes.
2. No.
3. She can register under the name by which she is best known and she can vote under the name used in her registration.

AN OPEN FACED LETTER TO UNCLE ANDY.

Now, doggone it, Uncle Andy, what is this we read in the headlines? "Mellon Comes to Defense of New Tariff." And here we were trying to kid ourselves into believing that the new tariff was a fine job in spite of the squawking other countries are making about it. You see, Uncle Andy, it's like this: We know you're a great man and a very rich man and all that—BUT—gosh! This is hard to explain, but it's like this: Now, take that old thing we used to write in our copy books, "It Is Always Darkest Just Before Dawn." Well, we were kept in so many times after school to rewrite that darned thing that we came to believe it. But do you know, Andy, if the newspapers were to say, "Mellon Says It Is Always Darkest Just Before Dawn," we wouldn't doubt it, you understand, but we'd get up the next morning somewhere about 4 o'clock and sneak outdoors and wait for sunrise.

Or take that famous wheeze pulled by Napoleon after Hannibal said it first, "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy." All our life we've had that foolish thing rubbed into us. We believe it just like 2 and 2 make 4. But again let us suppose the newspapers carry a big black streamer headline, "Mellon Says That Beyond the Alps Lies Italy," why, do you know, Uncle Andy, that right away some of us would wonder if you weren't kiddin'? Yessir, we'd get down the old geography and look to see if it wasn't Timbuctoo over there on the other side of the Alps, or maybe Madagascar or Indiana. Or we might get the idea that somebody had moved the Alps while we weren't looking and that there wasn't anything on the other side.

So, Uncle Andy, whatever you do don't you come right out and tell the reporters that "Virtue Is Its Own Reward," or "Our Todays and Yesterdays Are the Blocks with Which We Build," or "Honesty Is the Best Policy," because we love those dear old things. We know they're the boloney, the hooey, and the applesauce, but us poor saps like 'em, so don't take our toys away from us.

CLEOPATRA.

The moon was mad white magic,
And it was in the spring,
When Antony came courting,
And promised everything.

He was tall and handsome,
A man from up the Nile,
And she was young and lovely,
And it was spring awhile.

Fresh leaves on slim green palm trees
Would make her child heart stir,
And scents on rain-wet evenings
Could do queer things to her.

I do not think death won her
Because he went away,
Perhaps she grew up suddenly,
And knew spring couldn't stay.

HELEN WELSHIMER.

FRANCE IS KICKING like the w. k. bay steer and threatening reprisals against the new tariff. France should worry; with the U. S. sending tens of thousands of tourists over there every summer who spend money just like snow falling down. If France gets too noisy we'll make our tourists go somewhere else, or else we'll insist that for every one hundred tourists who go to France there must be at least twenty-five French tourists with an equal amount of spending money visit the United States. That'll hold 'em, gosh! With their quaint idea that the 18th amendment is in force a Frenchman would just as soon be left bound and gagged in the middle of the Sahara desert as to go touring around in the U. S. A.

IT'S RUMORED that Lindy is planning a trip around the world. He's got to do it before November, or a lot of people will be speaking of him as Senator Morrow's son-in-law as sure as shootin'.

DON'T LET ANYBODY fool you! It's summer now; we went bumping over the line between spring and summer at twenty-five minutes after ten o'clock last Saturday night! "Oh, my dear, do you know I felt a sort of a shock at that very time? You know, the same funny feeling you have when your car runs over somebody and you wonder is anybody got your number?" Anyhow, the longest day of the year was last Saturday, and it's now the open season for sayin', "D'y notice how much shorter the days are getting?"

PUZZLE.

This summer I went to Juan les Pins.
I got a perfectly elegant tan.
All day long I lay on the beach—
My cocoanut oil within easy reach.

A quiet dinner, with wine for style,
Then the Casino a little while;
And so to bed—a lazy way—
In the same pajamas I'd worn all day.

I met no young nor attractive men.
I thought I'd never go back again;
But now, every one I see regales
Me with most strange and wondrous tales.

And did I do this and did I do that—
At best, my experiences fall rather flat.
I wonder where on earth I have been

LAGNIAPPE.

POSTSCRIPT: And, Uncle Andy, after we said what we did in our open faced letter to you at the top of this here now colyum, we opened the noon edition of the Chi. Eve. Post Saturday and read: "The stock market broke wide open in the early trading today, prominent shares losing $2 to $11, and several reaching new lows. Secretary Mellon's statement on the tariff law . . . failed to bolster the markets." You see, Andy, what we're trying to get at?

AND SO, ANDY, besides the other mottoes and ancient wisecracks, we'd rather you wouldn't monkey with the one that reads, "Hope Springs Eternal in the Human Breast." Gosh! We don't want to play that one down. Not right at this time, anyhow.

PROHIBITION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 23, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—The most important expression of President Lincoln's views on the question of Negro suffrage has just been given to the public in a letter which he wrote to Gov. Hahn of Louisiana March 16, 1864. It reads: "I congratulate you on having fixed your name in history as the first free state governor of Louisiana. Now you are about to have a convention which, among other things, will probably define the elective franchise. I barely suggest for your private consideration whether some of the colored people may not be let in, as, for instance, the very intelligent, and especially those who have fought gallantly in our ranks. They would probably help, in some trying time to come, to keep the jewel of liberty in the family of freedom. But this is only a suggestion, not to the public but to you alone. Truly yours,
"A. LINCOLN."

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Sheridan is relieved from command of the middle division and assigned to a command west of the Mississippi and south of the Arkansas. He is ordered to report to Gen. Grant for instructions. The commands to be given to Gens. Meade, Sherman, and Halleck have been decided upon, but they have not yet received their formal assignments.

NEW ORLEANS.—Advices from Mexico represent that Emperor Maximilian's power is waning. He is reported to be a mere tool in the hands of Bazaine, French marshal. The army also is demoralized, none but the French troops being reliable, and these look to Bazaine, rather than to the emperor, for all orders.

CHICAGO.—William Phillips and Miss Sarah M. Lord, daughter of J. F. Lord, Esq., were married on June 21 at the Lord home by the Rev. Charles Edward Cheney. E. H. Hart and Miss Fannie W. Frost, both of Chicago, were married at the home of E. O. Moore in Cincinnati on June 21 by the Rev. M. P. Gaddis.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 23, 1900.

CHICAGO.—This is Derby day at Washington Park. From Halsted street by the river to the drive by the lake, all other matters will be held as of minor importance until a horse, struggling to the front of his straining competitors, passes under the wire, while banked thousands of citizens in the stands and gay throngs on coaches and breaks cheer the winner of the thirteenth annual American Derby. It will be a carnival of fashion. Seven starters are sure. They are: Lieutenant Gibson, Phillips, Advance Guard, James, Silver Garter, Norford, and Barrack. Lieutenant Gibson, a Chicago horse, is the favorite.

WASHINGTON.—An urgent request came from Admiral Kempff for more troops and ships to be sent to China. Orders were dispatched to Admiral Remey at Manila to send additional ships to Taku. It is known the Princeton and the Marietta already have been ordered there. What other troops will be sent will be left to Gen. MacArthur.

LONDON.—The Times received a Shanghai message which says: "Further news from Tientsin confirms the report that a determined attack was made on the foreign settlement by Chinese troops armed with modern field guns. Most of the European buildings have been destroyed. Many of the defenders lost their lives."

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 23, 1920.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Postmaster General Burleson's declaration at San Antonio for a Democratic plank declaring for modification of the "drastic and absurd provisions of the Volstead act" projects the prohibition issue as probably one of the big fights of the Democratic national convention.

CHICAGO.—The motive back of the slaying of Mrs. Ruth Wanderer is still a mystery. The body of the stranger who killed her and was killed by her husband, Carl, in the hallway of her mother's home, 4732 North Campbell avenue, remains unidentified. At the inquest Wanderer testified that a few days ago his wife had run home and told him that a man had tried to flirt with her. He was able to give no clew to the man's identity, however.

POLICE ON THE STREETS.

Chicago, June 20.—Allow me, as a citizen and taxpayer in this county, to congratulate the new acting commissioner of police. I do so for the stand he has taken in sending seven hundred of the bureau out in uniform to travel beats. I had occasion a short time ago to be present at a place where there were many policemen. It seemed as though most of them were from the bureau, and they did nothing but talk about the soft jobs they had at the bureau. Most of them looked as though they had been on the force not more than five years or so and I wondered how they could rate these soft jobs. I understand also that many able bodied men are placed in telephone operator positions and would suggest to the new commissioner that he place women in these jobs and put these able bodied fellows on the street. As a taxpayer I know that I help in paying the policemen. If they would all do police work I would not care if my taxes were increased to pay them, but when I hear of so many of the young fellows holding such soft jobs at the bureau I am sorry that I have to pay any taxes at all.

M. J. SULLIVAN.

AGAINST THE TRACTION ORDINANCE.

Chicago, June 19.—It is repeatedly asserted by the advocates of the pending traction ordinance that if that measure fails of ratification on July 1, "chaos" will follow, and Chicago will be without hope of any substantial improvement in its transportation service for an indefinite number of years to come.

The obvious truth is that, if the voters reject the proposed ordinance, the cars will run on July 2 as if nothing had happened, and they will continue to run, as they have for the last two years or more, under the ordinance of 1907 as extended from time to time.

True, there will be no extensive improvement in service immediately, but Chicago will still own her streets and be in position to deal with any parties who may present a proposition which offers a solution of the traction problem on terms that will appeal to the sense of fairness of our citizens. It is brazenly outside of the truth to assert that there are not other opportunities for this great city to deal advantageously with responsible parties in handling this vitally important matter.

It is well also to look at the other side of the picture and to consider what would be the situation should the pending ordinance be approved by the voters.

1. The traction fund, by means of which the city holds the whip hand in traction negotiations, will be virtually extinguished.

2. The streets of the city, for transportation purposes, will be surrendered to a private corporation for an indefinite period, which a careful study of the ordinance shows would almost certainly be perpetual.

3. The city's only guaranty for home rule is in the provision for a transit commission to be appointed by the mayor. In the judgment of many of our ablest lawyers the Supreme court will deny the constitutionality of this provision. Should this prove to be the case, the control of the city's transportation will be in the hands of the Illinois commerce commission.

Thus, as a final result of this much heralded "traction settlement," the streets of the city will be given away for all time, home rule will be a vanished dream and Chicago, so to speak, will walk out of her own house with the privilege of looking in at the window.

SAFETY FIRST.

SUBWAYS AND SNOWSTORMS.

Chicago, June 19.—County Treasurer Harding, in indorsing the proposed merger ordinance, says: "The building of the subway means that one can reach his business on time no matter how deep the snow or inclement the weather." Does Mr. Harding realize that the ordinance provides for a subway extending only from Chicago avenue to 16th street, and that when a snowstorm or blizzard strikes the city the snow falls in Rogers Park, Austin, and Woodlawn as well as in Chicago's loop? Mr. Harding's statement is an excellent argument against the proposed little, "dinky" subway of 5½ miles and a good reason for an independent, comprehensive subway extending the entire distance of Chicago. It is amusing to recall Corporation Counsel Ettelson's "fight" in the federal court against the recent increase in "L" fare to 10 cents and to note now the entire Thompson political family, including Ettelson, indorsing the ordinance providing the same 10 cent fare. "L" passengers have not forgotten Ettelson's sham battle.

PASSENGER.

TRANSFERRING THE TRANSFER CORNERS.

Chicago, June 17. — My youngster is going to transfer from the 6th grade of the Ryder school, located at 87th and Indiana avenue, to the Hirsch Junior High school. The child is but eleven years of age and it has caused me some worry because he must transfer at 79th and State streets, move across to the west side of the street and then catch an eastbound car.

This condition undoubtedly occurs to thousands of other youngsters in the city. This also applies to any of the street car riders who must make a transfer—that is, they must cross the street. But if this street car rider, instead of crossing the street to catch the eastbound car, after having gone north, could walk one block east and then catch that car going east, it would prevent that possible accident.

The only drawback that I can see to this thought is that the car company would be forced to make a stop one block beyond the intersection, and would perhaps lose a few seconds time. Or, the street cars could stop on both sides of the street at all intersections, which, of course, would answer the same purpose.

FRIENDS

HOTEL KNICKERBOCKER . . . in but one year . . . has won a host of friends—outstanding business men, well known bankers, buyers for important mercantile houses . . . prominent men and women.

With pride we point to the sales meetings and conventions held here by internationally known manufacturers. # FIGHTS TO HALT DESTRUCTION OF MASSACRE SPOT

Mackinaw Wants to Save Ruins of Old Fort.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mackinaw City, Mich., June 22.—[Special.]—A group of residents of this little city on the northern tip of the southern peninsula are organizing a fight against the Michigan park commission for its destruction of the remains of the old fort here that was burned after a famous massacre by the Ojibways in 1763.

A constructive objective of the group is the restoration of the blockhouse as a state memorial that would be enjoyed by the 600,000 who pass through the town every summer.

Support for this movement was pledged today by representatives of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association, the western Michigan Motor club and the chambers of commerce of Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

Erase Traces of Memorial Spot.

"The state park commission," said George Coffman, Mackinaw City business man, "has done much to erase traces of the spot where 78 white men lost their lives, casualties in the struggle of civilization to conquer the wilderness."

Mr. Coffman led the visitors to a small park on the shores of the straits of Mackinac. From the sand beach could be seen an ore ship, passing through the channel en route to the South Chicago mills.

"This is where the blockhouse stood," said Mr. Coffman. "Before the state took over the park a couple of years ago, the foundation of the fort and of seven houses could be seen. The state has plowed the ground and planted these trees."

Young elm trees are set out in even rows. Rye is growing on the sandy soil, the beginning of a lawn, the only marker is a mortar and rock obelisk about ten feet high with a bronze plaque telling briefly of the massacre.

Could Restore Blockhouse.

"For a few dollars," he said, "the state could restore the blockhouse and operate an historical attraction on a nonprofit basis that would be enjoyed by the motoring public of the central west."

On June 4, 1763, the garrison of this most westerly English outpost was enjoying a holiday. It was the king's birthday.

Just outside the stockade, Indian youths were playing lacrosse, watched by a group of blanketed squaws squatted on the ground. The ball, as if by accident was knocked over the stockade. Two young Ojibways climbed after it. They overpowered the guard at the gate. The blanketed figures jumped to their feet as fully armed warriors. The scalping knives did heavy duty. Seventy-eight English soldiers and a few women and children were killed.

The massacre was part of the conspiracy of Chief Pontiac to overthrow the English in the west. The conspiracy failed when the Indians were repulsed at Detroit with the death of Pontiac.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE BURNED TO DEATH AS PLANE FALLS IN OHIO

Toledo, O., June 22.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joe V. Illenseyre of Detroit were burned to death here this afternoon when their airplane fell at the municipal airport and burst into flames. Kenneth Aber of Mansfield, O., their pilot, made a futile effort to drag them from the plane, but he was burned in the attempt.

It was a Swallow cockpit plane, identification number 8084, powered by a Curtiss O-X-5 motor, manufacturer's number 3238.

Two Killed in Plane Crash.

Tamaqua, Pa., June 22. — (AP) — Gwilym Arthur, 24, and Lansford and Joseph Fisher, 26, of Mauch Chunk were killed today in an airplane crash at the Hometown airport near here. The plane fell as they were taking off for the Lehighton airport, where they were believed to have been employed.

Pilot Plunges to His Death.

Wichita, Kas., June 22.—(AP)—Speeding at a 120 mile an hour clip in a race with three other planes in an air show here this afternoon, Ray Field, 35, Wichita pilot, plunged to his death when his craft suddenly nose-dived from an altitude of 400 feet. More than 3,000 saw the fatal crash.

Rare and Beautiful Things

For those who demand the best that can be produced

Here in Chicago, as in all other great centers of civilization, are many families of wealth and cultivated tastes whose scale of living is quite beyond the ordinary. They live splendidly, generously, even magnificently. They invest their surplus funds in life-values which they prefer to unnecessary cash accumulations. Not a few of them have found that this manner of living increases their capacities, opportunities, resourcefulness, and often their incomes.

Such persons, in adding to their living equipment, whether in apparel, ornaments or furnishings for the home, are eager to obtain things of superlative beauty and worth. They choose things in keeping with their scale of living. What may seem the height of extravagance to others is a matter-of-course with them.

It is the pride of Marshall Field & Company that such customers may always find here large collections of rare and beautiful merchandise suited to their requirements.

FAMOUS DOCTOR SAYS DRINKERS OF WINE LIVE LONGER

Compares Ages of French and U. S. Statesmen.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 22.—The longevity of most French public characters compared with the early age at which most American statesmen die is due to the fact that the former drink wine regularly while the latter do not, in the opinion of Dr. Thierry de Martel, one of the most distinguished surgeons in Europe.

Dr. De Martel is on the medical board of the American hospital in Paris and is chief surgeon of that institution. He is a member of the legion of honor and was recently made an officer of the legion in recognition of his researches in various fields of medicine and surgery.

Does Not Drink Himself.

Dr. De Martel prefaced his remarks by stating that he does not like wine or any other kind of liquor and very seldom takes it himself. He just prescribes it for his patients.

"Without going into mass statistics," said Dr. De Martel, "it is interesting to compare the longevity record of a few prominent Frenchmen with that of some of your famous men. Marshal Foch died at 78. Clemenceau died at 89. Former President Emile Loubet died at 91 and he loved a bottle of good wine even more than the others.

"Compare that with the sudden deaths at a relatively early age of such men as Woodrow Wilson, Harding, Bryan, Roosevelt and the great dry leader, Wayne B. Wheeler. Wheeler was only 58 when he died and Bryan only 65. On the other hand, the late Ambassador Herrick, who drank wine with his meals like a Frenchman, lived to 74.

Many Old Timers Still Living.

"As for some of the prominent Frenchmen still living, there are Marshal Joffre, who is 78; Poincare, 70; and M. Doumer, president of the senate, 73. President Doumergue and Briand are both in their sixties.

"An interesting thing about all these men is that they live healthy lives right up to the end and when they do die it is not from sudden organic breakdown, but from simple old age.

"I am sure that the custom of drinking wine daily is responsible for this. Wine with meals is especially important for some one constantly harassed by a number of cares like a statesman. It relaxes the whole body, induces a cheerful frame of mind, and thus helps the digestion. At the same time it quickens the mental powers.

Wine and Beer Good Food.

"Aside from the purely moral effect, however, alcohol in small quantities —as furnished by moderate consumption of wine or beer—is a definite food, and a very good one. Pasteur proved this and any attempts to disprove it are based upon a supposition of a saturation of alcohol in the digestive system.

"So much for wine as an habitual food. Its importance as medicine is equally undeniable. A dry white wine is very valuable for combating fermentation, and the heavier wines and beers are wonderful tonics. I always prescribe wine for my patients after an operation.

"Furthermore, in France, where the water is sometimes bad, wine is an absolute necessity because it effectively kills typhoid and cholera germs.

"As for liquors, even in moderation, there is some question, and the cocktail I regard as an abomination and a menace to health."

Police Hunt Two Robbers After Shooting of Youth

The police yesterday were seeking two bandits who shot Howard Lowing, 20 years old, 4652 North Hamlin avenue, as they were searching him in a garage in the rear of his home. He struck one of them with his fist. He is in Belmont hospital with a bullet wound through the body. No trace has been found of the two men who killed John Woody, 725 West 25th street, driver for a laundry, in a holdup at 5043 Rhodes avenue. He was shot when he grappled with the robbers.

EXILED LIBERAL TELLS ALFONSO SPAIN NEEDS A LIMITED MONARCHY

PARIS, June 22.—(AP)—King Alfonso discussed the political situation in Spain in detail today with Santiago Alba, former Liberal premier exiled at the beginning of the Primo de Riviera dictatorship.

In an interview with the press later the Liberal statesman said he had suggested to King Alfonso that the Spanish monarchy should be modeled after the democratic institutions built round the British and the Belgian royal families. He told the king that universal suffrage must be consulted and find its constitutional expression in the cortes, or parliament. He said he was not desirous of assuming the premiership in Spain and would not accept such an invitation until universal suffrage had been consulted in freely conducted elections. The Liberal leader said his press communique had been submitted to the king and approved by him.

PRIEST DROWNS SAVING LIVES OF TWO YOUNG GIRLS

MONTREAL, June 22.—(AP)—The Rev. Raymond Cloran, 46, prefect of discipline at Loyola college here, drowned in the St. Lawrence river today after an heroic rescue of two young girls, who got beyond their depth while bathing. Father Cloran, a son of the late Senator H. G. Cloran, was bathing at Vardennes when he noticed the girls were in difficulties.

The priest swam to their assistance while two girls put out in a rowboat. Father Cloran reached one girl and supported her until the boat reached them. He then helped the other girl into the boat, but was too exhausted to save himself.

The girls were unable to help him and Father Cloran disappeared below the surface. His body had not been recovered late tonight.

"FLEET'S IN," BUT U. S. MIDDIES SAD; MUST BEHAVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHERBOURG, France, June 22.—The hard drinking old salts of this seaport are upset over what they consider as a lamentable deterioration of American youth, as evidenced by the behavior of some 1,000 Annapolis midshipmen on their annual cruise aboard the battleships Arkansas, Florida, and Utah.

Since the three dreadnaughts dropped anchor yesterday morning, the natives noted with disapproval that the middies did not exhibit the traditional zest for investigating drinking conditions. An investigation today revealed the regulations have been greatly tightened up owing to the adventures of "harum skarum" middies on previous cruises. The usual five day leave to Paris has been cut down to three days, and the middies complain that they were "bulldozed" into signing up for a regular conducted tour. The middies claim they would greatly prefer to organize private parties and see Paris by night.

To pacify the middies an S O S was sent to Paris to rush a trainload of American girls to help relieve the tedium. Fearing a small attendance at a ship's dance, an official order was issued that at least 50 middies must stand by and do right by the girls.

DIVES TOO DEEPLY; DROWNS.

Paris, Ill., June 22.—(AP)—William Avery, 21, was drowned today when he dived too deeply into Twin lakes near here and his head struck the bottom. The body was recovered.

REDS MEET HERE IN JULY; RUSSIA GIVES 'WAR FUND'

Moscow Sends $500,000 for Drive in U. S.

BERLIN, June 22.—(AP)—Russian monarchist circles in Berlin today alleged that in secret meetings at Danzig last week American communists and agents from Moscow had laid plans for extensive communist action in the United States next September.

The emigres, hostile to the communist régime in Russia, asserted that on June 17 the executive of the Communist Internationale at Moscow had resolved to allocate about $500,000 for the dissemination of communism in the United States.

This fund was said to be especially designed for propaganda in the cities of Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore. At Chicago, the monarchists further report, a secret communist meeting has been planned for July 3, 4, and 5 to organize a movement in which South American communists also will participate.

American Reds Get Orders.

The alleged movement includes the appointment of about 40 "instructors" to spread the "Red gospel" throughout the United States. To carry it into effect, several American communists were said to have received orders from Moscow to return immediately to the United States.

The monarchists assert that the following American communists met Moscow agents at Danzig; William Hood, Philadelphia; George Holbrook, Boston; Harold Talbot, Baltimore, and a man named Ruegert of Chicago. William Fowler, Harry Upton, and a certain Wieghardt, all of New York, were said to have come from Moscow to Danzig by airplane. It is understood that Hood and Holbrook left Danzig on Thursday for Marseilles, France, where they will embark for the United States.

CHICAGO POLICE ALERT.

Chicago police have been aware of the proposed communist convention in Chicago July 3, 4 and 5 for two months, according to Lieut. Make Mills of the industrial squad. Delegates have been arriving by foot and box car for several weeks he said, and preparations are being made by the Reds to take care of more than 3,000 in the three day session.

The activity of the Chicago Council of Unemployed, which has at various times presented "work or wages" petitions to the mayor, is regarded by police largely as propaganda in preparation for the convention.

It is the plan, according to Lieut. Mills' information, that, following the meeting here, the delegates are to march on Washington, D. C., to present their demands to President Hoover.

LIST "BILL OF RIGHTS AGAINST NOISES" FOR GUIDANCE OF PUBLIC

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—A "citizens' bill of rights against noise," disclosing just what relief from unreasonable noise the residents of the city are entitled to under the law, was made public by the noise abatement commission.

There are eight clauses in the bill. The first two deal with radios, pointing out that loud-speakers in front of shops are forbidden, and that neighbors may be restrained from excessive radios by a complaint to the health department.

The clatter of the ash collection should be brought to the attention of the sanitation department, if made by city collectors, or the health department, if by private collectors.

The policeman on the beat is the proper one to bring relief from unnecessarily noisy milkmen, doormen's whistles, tooting of automobile horns, and loud conversation at all-night taxi stands.

WETS WIN VOTE ON DRY LAW AT CHURCH MEETING

Pana, Ill., June 22.—[Special.]—When J. C. Brown, pastor of the First Methodist church, chose as his subject "Is Pana Going Wet?" at services held in the roped off street a Pana newspaper man took a test poll of 100, many of whom are connected with Pana churches, on the Rev. Mr. Brown's query.

The poll showed Pana already wet by a majority of 83 to 17, the wet voters also subscribing that it would take an army to make the city dry.

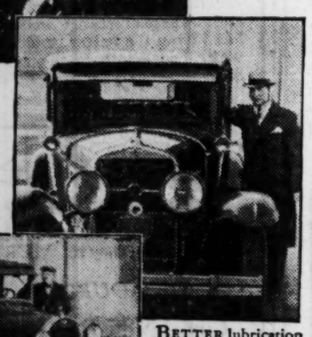
—and people can hardly believe their eyes

THIS EXPERIMENT with New Iso-Vis Motor Oil is rather amazing. But it certainly convinces those who see it that New Iso-Vis has exactly as heavy a body when it is drained from the crankcase as when it is poured in.

THE SERVICE manager of a Buick agency reports excellent results from New Iso-Vis. His experience, he says, shows that New Iso-Vis does not thin out in the crankcase.



BETTER lubrication in numerous makes of cars is the report on New Iso-Vis from a garage owner in N. Dakota. He has enough evidence to convince him that New Iso-Vis will not thin out.

A FORD DEALER in Southern Michigan tried out New Iso-Vis and gives you this report. New Iso-Vis maintained the same body from the time it was put in the crankcase until it was finally drained off.

WE WISH that every car owner might actually see this laboratory experiment with New Iso-Vis Motor Oil. This is what happens:

A motor car is driven for hundreds of miles with New Iso-Vis in the crankcase. The oil is then drained off, taken to the laboratory and passed through a special laboratory filter which removes the dirt.

As the cleaned oil seeps through the filter, you realize the surprising fact that it is actually as oily and heavy as the day it was put in the crankcase. It has not been worn out by all those hundreds of miles of driving.

New Iso-Vis is an advance in motor lubrication. It is the only motor oil that will not thin out in the crankcase. This means an entirely new freedom from lubrication worries . . . less wear on every moving part of the engine . . . fewer repair bills.

Naturally, you should change New Iso-Vis with normal frequency because of the road dust and dirt that always accumulate in the crankcase. With New Iso-Vis, however, you may be sure that thinned out, diluted oil will not endanger your motor.

Another important quality of New Iso-Vis is that it deposits less carbon—at least 50% less than many of the better grade oils. Also it works better at extremes of temperature. It stands up under the most intense heat your engine will develop, yet lubricates effectively in cold weather.

Give your engine the added protection of this new type oil. You can get New Iso-Vis from any Standard Oil dealer or service station.

New ISO-VIS 30¢ a quart

Motor Oil

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

3,000 REDS MASS IN MOSCOW FOR RUSSIA CONGRESS

Plan to Outline Policies; May Vindicate Stalin.

MOSCOW, June 22.—(AP)—Delegates to the all-union congress of the communist party, scheduled to open here next Wednesday, today crowded the accommodations of the Red capital.

Almost 3,000 delegates, representing every nook and corner of the soviet union, will be assembled in the Kremlin palace, for the start of what is regarded as one of the most important congresses the party has ever held. Nearly 100 different nationalities and races within the soviet union will be there, presenting an extraordinarily picturesque appearance in their colorful, variegated national dress.

May Vindicate Stalin.

The congress, which is the first since Leon Trotzky's expulsion from the party more than two years ago, is expected to vindicate completely the policies and practices of Joseph Stalin, secretary-general of the central party committee. As Russia's "strong man," Stalin is generally credited with having saved the country from disaster last March by his famous manifesto calling a halt on soviet village officials and party members in their excesses designed to hasten the collectivization of the peasantry on large state controlled farms.

Politicians also consider it likely that the right wing opposition, led by Nicolai Bukharin, Michael Tomsky, and Alexei Rykov, who believe the present rate of socialization of the country is too swift, will, like the exiled Trotzky, be faced with the alternative of recanting or being dismissed from the party.

In recanting, they would admit they were mistaken, and pledge before the congress their wholehearted support to the central committee of the party. If they were dismissed from the party they would also be deprived of their executive positions in the government.

Stalin to Present Strong Front.

Political observers here say Stalin will be able to present a strong front at the congress, because this year's crop promises so well, largely due to the central committe's agricultural collectivization policy. The progress in the first two years of the government's five year industrialization plan and favorable prospects for the country's further industrial progress will also strengthen his position.

Several days will be spent discussing the government's agricultural collectivization enterprise, upon which the complete socialization of Russia largely depends. Official pronouncements say 25 per cent of all peasant households in the soviet union are embraced in the scheme already.

The congress also will give protracted attention to Russia's five year industrialization plan, in connection with which hundreds of American engineers, and technicians are employed by the government. Other questions on the agenda are the past activities and future program of the Russian section of the Communist Internationale, and new forms of work for trades unions in the soviet territories.

The central committee of the party will report on the soviets' international situation, as well as on internal affairs.

DRYS FIND 4 ASLEEP BY SIDE OF STILLS IN WEST VIRGINIA HILLS

Elkins, W. Va., June 22.—(AP)—Morpheus has joined the ranks of those enforcing the prohibition laws in West Virginia.

State troopers and federal agents today found Charles Mott, 70, asleep in the wooded hills of Randolph county. His shotgun in his arms, and beside him four moonshine stills, working as he slept. Mott insisted he was only a guard, paid a dollar a day to stand sentinel, but he may have to stand trial as the operator of the stills as well.

Similarly deputy sheriffs last night came upon three men sleeping soundly beside a still in McDowel county. The three were held for federal grand jury action.

RUSSIA ORDERS 4 PUT TO DEATH FOR AIDING KULAKS

SAMARKAND, Uzbek, U. S. R. R., June 22.—(AP)—Four men, including a former chief justice of the Uzbekistan Supreme court, were sentenced to death today after conviction of favoring the Kulaks, or rich peasants, in court proceedings, accepting bribes and participating in border raids.

They were Ali Kasimov, former prosecutor for the Supreme court; Ivan Spiridonov, former attorney for the defense, and a rich peasant named Alimoff.

Three other defendants, including two judges, were sentenced to ten year prison terms for the same offense. The trial lasted nearly four months.

INCOME OF IOWA FARMERS SHOWS UPWARD TREND

Dairying, Poultry Farming Pushing to Front.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., June 22.—[Special.]—The gross income of Iowa farmers has shown a steady upward trend since 1921, the year of financial depression in this agrarian state, according to records produced by Leslie M. Carl, federal agricultural statistician here.

In that year the farm income amounted to but a half billion dollars, as compared with present yearly intake of nearly three fourths of a billion.

Iowa ranks first place in all states in gross income from live stock and is second only to Texas in total income from all agricultural pursuits. Hogs and corn have reigned supreme here for years, but dairying and poultry raising are pushing to the front rapidly, government estimates show. Eighty per cent of the state's farm income is from live stock.

Hogs Yield $255,254,000.

The yearly returns from hogs alone amount to $255,254,000, while cattle and calves bring in $103,397,000 and dairy products $86,920,000. Since such a large proportion of corn is used in the production of animals and animal products, the cash income from this commodity, fourth in importance of all crops in the state, is nearly $80,000,000.

A list of 26 farm crops, added to the products from gardens, nurseries, forests and greenhouses, brings Iowa farmers nearly $175,000,000, according to federal estimates. Listed as increasingly important sources of ready cash here are such crops as potatoes, worth over $5,000,000; truck crops, $3,140,000; hay, $3,906,000; timothy and clover seed, $2,893,000; apples and other fruit, $3,403,000, and such others as sugar beets, sorghum, honey, maple sirup and sugar, soy beans and popcorn.

Truck Farming Pays Well.

The latter has recently become one of Iowa's million dollar industries, while bee products return nearly three-fourths of a million dollars yearly. Farm gardens in the state have brought their owners $10,628,000 in a year, the records show, while forest, greenhouse and nursery products net $16,542,000 in a twelve-month period.

Although tenancy is on the increase in Iowa, said to be due to the blow dealt agriculture since the war, conditions are found to be better than at any time in the decade, not only as to diversification of income, improvements and upkeep of the farm and its buildings but also in home improvements that are rapidly modernizing rural life in this area between the Mississippi and the Missouri.

Indiana Woman Drowns; 2 Escape as Boat Capsizes

Warsaw, Ind., June 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rose Deal, 20, of South Bend, was drowned and her husband, Arthur Deal, and Frank Long, both also of South Bend, narrowly escaped when the small motor boat from which they were fishing capsized in Syracuse lake, just east of Syracuse.

REGIONS FOR IOWA'S CROPS

BULLET LADEN BODY OF NEGRO BURIED IN DIXIE

Union, S. C., June 22.—(AP)—Guarded by the same National Guard unit that arrived 30 minutes too late to save him from death at the hands of an angry mob, the bullet laden body of Dan Jenkins, Beaufort, N. C., Negro, was buried in a pauper's grave at the county poor farm here today.

He had been identified by Mrs. O. L. Shipman, 23, and her 16 year old sister-in-law, Miss Mary Eleazer Shipman, as their attacker.

The feeling that reached its height when 50 to 100 men emptied volley after volley from pistols and shotguns into Jenkins' body had died down today with the burial of the Negro.

The inquest, which was opened last night on orders from Gov. John G. Richards, who denounced what he termed the "reprehensible conduct" of Sheriff J. C. Greer of Union, brought from the sheriff the statement that he did not recognize any member of the mob. The National Guard was ordered out by Gov. Richards.

Jenkins was the second Negro to be lynched in South Carolina within two months. Allen Green, 50, was killed by a mob at Walhalla, S. C., April 23. He too was accused of attacking a white woman.

Senators Rout Weiland and McKain; Beat Sox, 10 to 3

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 22.—Saturday was the longest day of the year, but you would have been convinced today was had you been sentenced to watch the Washington Senators lick the White Sox. The score of the dreary spectacle was Senators, 10, Sox, 3.

To make the Sox reversion to form all the more painful, the Great Shires put on a field day. In the first four innings, C. Arthur made three hits off three different pitchers; drove in four runs and scored two himself. He also played a smart game at first.

After their Sabbath display, the Comiskeys dashed to Philadelphia where, tomorrow, they will engage in the first of successive double headers against the world champion Athletics. Faber will go after his ninth defeat or his second victory in the first encounter, and Dutch Henry will seek his third victory in the second.

Kerr Injured at Plate.

The game today went awry at the start. Kerr opened things with a triple, but never arrived at the home base. Watwood, who stays in the lineup despite his absolute lack of batting skill, lived up to expectations by bouncing to the pitcher, Kerr holding third. Reynolds then tapped to Myer, who threw out Kerr at the plate. Reynolds attempted to reach second and was doubled, Ruel to Myer. Kerr, although he played the next inning, was injured in the play at the plate and had to retire.

The Sox defensive in the last half of the first was even more of a gem of inefficiency than their offense had been. Loepp singled to center, and Rice was hit by a pitched ball. The bases were full when Manush rolled a bunt past Weiland. Cronin walked, forcing in Loepp. Shires bounced to Clancy and got credit for a hit when no one covered first base. As a result another run scored and the bases still were full.

McKain Relieves Weiland.

McKain then relieved Weiland. Myer singled to left, scoring Manush and Cronin, and when the ball was thrown in to Kerr, Johnny discovered that both Shires and Myer were standing on second. Myer started back for first, and Kerr threw to Clancy, who tagged Myer. By this time Shires was en route to third. Clancy had an easy play, but threw the ball to the stands, Shires proceeding on home. Cissell threw out Bluege, Ruel walked and McKain threw out Liska.

The Sox made two runs in the second. Jolley was safe on Myer's error and Cissell walked. Clancy singled to right, scoring Jolley and putting Cissell on third, whence he scored on Kamm's sacrifice fly. Tate lined to Cronin and Clancy was doubled.

The Senators made a run after two were out in the second. After West had fanned and Rice had popped to Cissell, Manush singled and reached second when Cissell made his daily error by dropping the ball on an attempted steal. Crohin walked, and Shires got the second of his series of hits, scoring Manush. Myer flied to Watwood.

Griffs Score Four More.

In the fourth, the Senators added four runs, and McKain was replaced by Walsh. West singled to center and Rice was hit by a pitched ball for the second time. Hunnefield threw out Manush. Harris went to second to run for Rice. Cronin walked, filling the bases. Shires then got his third successive hit, a single to right, which scored West and Harris and put Cronin on third. Myer singled to center, scoring Cronin and putting Shires on third. Shires scored on Bluege's sacrifice fly. Myer was out trying to steal second.

The remainder of the game was of little consequence. In the sixth, however, the Sox had the bases full with none out, but could get over only one run.

Jones Gives U. S. An Even Break

BY ARCH WARD.

BOBBY JONES did more than add luster to his brilliant career when he won the British Open Golf championship Friday. He gave America the victory it needed to keep its record balanced in 1930 international competition.

Uncle Sam's athletes have been faring none too well, aside from Bobby's achievements.

A picked team of women golf stars was defeated by the British in a team match in May. Then Diana Fishwick, previously unknown in international golf, won from Glenna Collett at Formby when it appeared that the American star had the British Women's championship in her grasp.

Even the skill of Helen Wills Moody, queen of tennis, couldn't save America in the Wightman cup matches, the British girls winning four matches to three.

These three reverses have been offset by America's men golfers. They overwhelmed the Britons in the Walker cup play and then came Jones with his amazing showing in the British amateur and British open.

If you want to be technical, the United States has broken even in boxing. Jack Sharkey was given a technical knockout over Phil Scott of England but lost a chance to win the heavyweight title when he fouled Max Schmeling of Germany.

That makes the count 4 to 4 and there still are formidable foes lurking beyond. England soon will send one of the strongest polo teams in its history to Meadowbrook. The French are picked to retain the Davis cup and Sir Thomas Lipton is renewing his challenge to lift the America's yacht cup.

Everything Goes Wrong.

We are beginning to lose faith in the statements of fight managers. We believed Pa Stribling when he said his son carried novocaine in his left hand in drills preparatory to his bout with Otto Von Porat. Instead he carried a horseshoe.

We also believed Ed Stevenson when he said his boy Otto would crush Stribling to the resin in short order. After reading those press agent notices we expected Von Porat to walk right out there with that terrible right hand and knock Willie for a row of Georgia peach trees. Even our co-worker, Harvey Woodruff, who seldom becomes carried away by the excitement of the moment, hardly could wait for the bell so the Norwegian could start his campaign of destruction. Otto struck an alarming posture of truculency after they squared off and we knew he was going to waste no time.

He didn't. It took only ten seconds to observe that Otto's terrible right hand wasn't functioning. And when Otto's right hand isn't functioning you have no idea how terrible it is.

Age No Handicap.

Few athletes are able to be outstanding in their line for a quarter of a century. MacDonald Smith is an exception. The increasing years fail to dim his remarkable eye. Twenty years ago he was in the running for the American open golf championship, only to lose to his brother Alex in the playoff. Twenty years later he had the British open championship in his grasp, but a super golfer, Bobby Jones, was two strokes too good.

ESPINOSA, WITH RECORD IN GRASP, TAKES 8 ON 18TH

The efforts of Al Espinosa, Harry Cooper, Lloyd and Everett Nelson to lower the Biltmore course record of 70, failed yesterday when Espinosa took an 8 on the last hole after finishing the first 17 in 63.

After making six birdies, Al stood at the 18th tee needing only a par five to finish two strokes under the mark established last year by Wild Bill Mehlhorn. He drove straight down the 525 yard fairway but his second shot came to rest in a trap beside the green.

He slugged the ball out with his niblick but it landed in a second trap and by the time he reached the green he had taken six. Two putts brought his score for the hole to 8 and his total to 71. Lloyd Nelson shot 72; Cooper, 73, and Everett Nelson, 79.

Espinosa made his most remarkable shot on the par four 15th. After hooking his drive into the woods and hitting his second to the far fairway, he holed a 30 yard approach for a birdie 3.

Tennis Kings, Queens Renew Wars at Wimbledon Today

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 22.—Wimbledon again becomes the battleground for most of the world's tennis stars tomorrow as the two week series of championship matches opens.

GEORGE LOTT.

The championships open with the men's singles. Wilmer Allison, American Davis cup player, will meet E. F. Moon, Australian champion, in the first match of the championships. Allison is one of the many ranking players who was forced to take their turns in the draw, Moon being a seeded player in his division. There are many others with enough talent scattered through the field to keep the eliminations at championship pitch throughout the week.

Eight Seeded in Draw.

Eight are seeded in the upper draw, headed by Henri Cochet, French champion in 1929. The lower half of the draw is headed by Bill Tilden, who is seeded as number two. Six others head divisions of 16 players each, making up the entry list of 128.

Cochet and Tilden dominate the field, and if the seeding is justified they will meet in the finals for the title and the finish will not be a French affair for the first time in three years.

Other seeded players are Jean Borcta, the French Basque; J. H. Doeg, United States Davis cup player, and George Lott, his teammate; Buju Austin, ranking British court strategist; Baron H. L. Morpurgo of Italy, and Moon of Australia.

They are expected to emerge from their four matches, but they should have the stiffest competition. Two Americans are facing Cochet in his division, Berkeley Bell and E. McCauliffe, and Moon still faces Daniel Prenn, ranking German player, if he beats Allison. Doeg has an easier field confronting him in his first appearance here, and so has Austin.

Tilden has to overcome John Van Ryn of the American Davis Cup team if he is to reach the semi-finals, as well as Jean Brugnon of France. Dr. J. C. Gregory, crack British doubles player, opposes Morpurgo later in the week; and Borotra is drawn against two of the best English players, H. G. N. Lee and J. S. Olliff. Lott has drawn fairly easy competition and is not expected to have much trouble pulling through.

Women Begin Play Tuesday.

The women start Tuesday. There is little doubt of Helen Wills Moody's eventual victory, as she has already been relieved of one of her most formidable opponents in the withdrawal of Mrs. Holcroft Watson because of illness, and there is a strong prospect that the finish will be a repetition of last year's finals, when she beat Helen Jacobs for the title. Miss Phyllis Mudford, brilliant young British player, is the strongest seeded opponent in her half of the draw, while the lower division is dominated by Miss Jacobs. The tier includes Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Fraulein Aussem, German champion.

Helen Moody is teamed with Miss Ryan in the women's doubles and there is a strong probability that they will repeat last year's conquest. The men's doubles are more of an open affair, but the American champions, Lott and Doeg, who are conceded to have the best service to be seen at Wimbledon, are slight favorites.

The seeded players in the mixed doubles are Tilden and Fräulein Aussem, John Crawford of Australia and Miss Ryan, Cochet and Mrs. Fearnley Wittingstall, who is the former Eileen Bennett of Great Britain; Borotra and Señorita de Alvarez, who is not playing in the singles because of swelling ankles.

Williams Beats Hayes for City Tennis Title

Lucien E. [Luke] Williams won the city tennis championship yesterday at the Town and Tennis club, defeating Walter T. Hayes, 48 year old veteran, in five gruelling sets, 3-6, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-1. Louis L. Thalheimer and Fred Royer of the Allerton club swept through Jerry Weber and Jack Harris of the Town and Tennis club to win the doubles crown, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3.

Catherine Wolf had too much tournament experience and coolness under fire for Lucy Jane Hedberg, rallying after being badly trimmed the first set, to pull out the match and the women's single title, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. Ruth Willard and Louise Hofmeister took the feminine doubles with ease from Miss Hedberg and Helen Fulton, 6-2, 6-0.

Hayes took the first two sets with ease. Williams came back to win the third frame easily, 6-2, but Hayes kept to his back court driving tactics in the fourth set and piled up a lead of 5-2. At this point he began to tire, and Williams pulled up to 5-all. Hayes was within two points of victory with the score at 6-5 but Williams ran out the set at 8-6. Williams had no difficulty in winning the fifth set.

Play for the Illinois state championships begins today on the same courts, with a field of 91 men and as many women, juniors and boys entered. George Jennings, national public parks champion, is seeded number one, with George O'Connell, Thalheimer, Royer, Williams, Hayes, Ellis Klingeman, Charles Lejeck, Jack Harris, Karl Kamrath of Austin, Tex., Doc Barr of Dallas, Tex., and Leo Lejeck as the other seeded stars.

Cleveland, O., June 22.—(AP)—George Jennings, Chicago left hander national municipal courts singles champion, won a straight set victory over Kirk Reid of Cleveland, five times Ohio title holder, to win the Ohio state singles tennis tournament here today. The scores were 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Jennings and his partner, Gordon Braudt, also of Chicago, were unequal to the task of winning the national inter-city doubles tourney, Cliff Marsh and Jack Castle taking the crown to Buffalo by scores of 7-5, 8-6, 11-9.

BRUINS GET TWO ON BASE; DOUBLE PLAY ENDS IT

Wilson and Grimm Hit Homers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Having been kicked around by the Cubs in eight out of nine games, the lowly Braves rose up in their wrath yesterday at Wrigley field. They not only hit Charlie Root in timely fashion but behind a pair of their own pitchers they fielded as if they had titular ideas of their own. Under such conditions the North Siders folded up easily, their only protests being a pair of homers which helped to make up an unfavorable 3 to 2 decision before 25,000.

In addition to breaking a Cub winning streak that had stretched to five engagements, the Braves had the pleasure of delaying the possibilities of the present champions' returning to first place. The pacemaking Robins gave the staggering Pirates another clout on the chin, and this achievement, coupled with the downfall of McCarthy's organization, created a margin of two and one-half laps between pursuer and pursued.

Cubs' Attack Weak.

The Cubs' attack, which usually is the best part of their game, was so limited as to be unworthy of mention. In seven innings of effort against Fred Frankhouse, late of the Cardinals, they exploded only five hits, three of these coming in the fourth, in which Hack Wilson's 21st homer of the season and Capt. Grimm's round tripper avoided the possibility of a shutout. Then, either because he was staggered by his own success or the weather, Frankhouse had to quit, but Cantwell picked up the string and carried it to the finish. However, he was bothered more or less in the ninth, when the champions acted as if they were coming to life. A double play choked them off.

Guy Bush will greet the Phillies in the opener today. Claude Willoughby probably will oppose him.

The Braves made their first advance against Root in the second inning. Nemo Chatham plunked a triple near the left field bleachers. Root then fanned Spohrer to make the second out and Welsh lined high to Grimm, but Capt. Charley couldn't hold the ball. It rolled away for a hit, Chatham scoring.

Kiki Makes Wild Throw.

An error by Cuyler assisted the easterners in hanging up another run in the third. Frankhouse opened the inning with a single to center and was forced on Richbourg's intended sacrifice bunt. Cuyler trapped Maranville's single and not only threw to first, which was the wrong bag, but threw wild. This sent Richbourg to third and Maranville to second. Sisler slashed a long fly to Stephenson, Richbourg scoring. Beck tossed out the dangerous Berger to complete the inning.

The last run off Root in the fourth was manufactured from one hit, a pass and a decision on the part of the Cub hurler to try for a double play instead of cutting down the man going to the plate. The free ticket went to Chatham, the first man up. Spohrer flied out, but Welsh shoved Chatham to third by singling to right. Maguire then bounced to Root, who ignored Chatham going toward the plate and instead threw to Beck for what was expected to be a double play. The throw forced Welsh, but there wasn't time to get Maguire at first, so the run counted.

The home fourth began inauspiciously, with Cuyler being tossed out by Maranville. Then Wilson, undisturbed mentally by two strikes, walloped No. 21 so terrifically that for a moment it appeared headed for a U. S. army blimp which was floating overhead at the time. Hack was considerably short of the gas filled target, but at least he sent the ball as far as the left field seats. A moment later Grimm, with a 3 to 2 count, hammered his four baser to the seating space in right. Hartnett tried to keep things moving by singling, but Beck fanned.

Braves Threaten Twice.

After the fourth Root had a couple of more threatening sessions, but things happened in such a way as to let him escape without additional runs. In the fifth singles by Maranville and Sisler, along with a double steal, put men on the two far bags with one out. Sisler aided the Cubs in this situation by interfering with Beck while the latter was fielding Berger's grounder. The offense made two out, put Maranville back on third and Chatham's fly ended it. Two more hits off Root in the seventh were voided when a double steal was nipped, Hartnett to Beck to Hartnett.

The attempt on the Cubs' part to get going against Cantwell in the ninth originated with Stephenson. He singled to right after Wilson had produced an infield out. Grimm also uncorked a single. This brought up Hartnett, who had been responsible for two of the five Bruin blows off Frankhouse. Gabby's supply of wallops was exhausted, however. He bounced to Chatham for a double play and the show closed.

BLUE LARKSPUR TO SEEK MORE LAURELS HERE

Bradley 4 Year Old Will Race at Arlington.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Blue Larkspur is coming back to the scene of his happy championship hunting ground and is scheduled to reach Arlington Park tomorrow morning.

Racing Secretary Joseph McLennan received word yesterday of the shipment of the eastern division of the Bradley stable to Arlington. Track Superintendent Billy Meyers immediately started getting the stalls ready to receive Blue Larkspur and his stable companions.

Blue Larkspur is engaged in all the stake events at Arlington to which 4 year olds are eligible. He may make his first start in the $7,500 Inaugural on opening day and may go again in the $20,000 Stars and Stripes handicap on July 4th.

Start Arriving Early.

Arrivals yesterday at Arlington included Val Crane's Wild Rose Farm stable, of which Dowagiac is the star; Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt with eleven horses; the Queen City stable [Allie Lowden and Thomas Phelan], with three head; Raymond Pollard with ten, including Uluniu, Princeton and Cog-Air; Norman Church's Northway stable including Eskimo and Plucky Play; R. Jackson with three, including the steeplechaser, Royal Charger; Fred Barry with the jumpers Button and Lough Linder.

The flags were up on the steeplechase course, every jump was in place and the chasers could have staged a contest over it had there been any occasion for it. Early arrivals among the steeplechaser riders and trainers pronounce it the finest steeplechase course in America.

Many other prominent stables will travel from New York to Chicago at about the time the Bradley stable makes the trip and by the end of the week some 600 eastern thoroughbreds will be quartered there awaiting the opening.

Sande, McAtee Coming.

Practically all of the best horses that have raced at Washington Park will transfer to Arlington. The best jockeys will also go there and will be joined by Sande, McAtee, Fator, Legere, Workman, McCoy and the other stars from the east.

The Washington Park season ends Saturday with the running of the $10,000 added Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap.

Today's Washington Park feature is the Hubbard Woods handicap, a dash at six furlongs, which in the overnight entries attracted Golden Prince, Brown Wisdom, T. S. Jordan, Martie Flynn, and Paul Bunyan.

SMITTY—THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

MAKE OR BREAK
THE KID HAS LEFT HOME TO MAKE A MAN OF HIMSELF.
THE LONG PANTS HE GOT IS THE NEAREST HE HAS COME TO IT.
SINCE I LEFT HOME IVE BEEN TRIMMED OF ALL MY MONEY AND PUT OUT OF A BOARDING HOUSE - I HOPE I GET A BREAK AT THIS PLACE
WORKING FOR A RACING STABLE AINT SO BAD - EXERCISE BOYS, THEY CALL US - WE DONT NEED EXERCISE WITH ALL THE WORK THEY GIVE US - I'M ALL IN -
I WOULDNT HAVE TO DO THIS IF I HADNT RUN AWAY FROM HOME - GEE, IT GETS ME WHEN I THINK OF HOME

Turners Leave Today for U.S. Meet at Buffalo

Five hundred Turners from the Lincoln Turnverein and nearby central states cities will leave this morning on a special train for the annual American Turnerbund National turnfest, which starts tomorrow at Buffalo, N. Y. Tonight at 9 o'clock a second special will leave with 1,000 Turners from six other Chicago societies. The officials also will travel on this train.

Societies represented are the Chicago Turngemeinde, Social, Borwarts, Eiche, Grand Crossing, and Aurora Freishauf. The drum corps, 70 in number, of the Social Turnverein also will make the trip.

Borwarts expects to place high in the fencing and saber competition. Chicago Turngemeinde seeks the gymnastic title, while Eiche is expected to win the volley ball eliminations, and, if other years are a criterion, should win the greatest number of first prizes. The senior class of the Social Turnverein is a strong competitor for first place.

[NUMBER FOUR]

DOROTHY MACKAILL

Newsstand girl in Hull, England, "glorified-girl" in Ziegfeld's Follies, now the idol of screen-struck fans. All in the space of four brief years.

A fast shot of the quick success of Dorothy Mackaill. Success . . . because she gave a new thrill. Quick, because of nature-born charm.

That goes, too, for another young star, OLD GOLD. Three years ago, unknown. Today, America's fastest growing cigarette.

OLD GOLD gave a new taste-thrill to jaded palates . . . and a new comfort to sensitive throats through tobaccos that nature had made smoother, mellower, free from all irritants. When a girl, or a cigarette . . . is blessed by nature, a new star rises . . . and fast.

IN 1926, THE ONLY 'EXTRAS' DOROTHY MACKAILL KNEW.... HAD BIG BLACK HEADLINES AND SOLD FOR A PENNY. TODAY THE ONLY 'EXTRAS' THAT KNOW DOROTHY ARE THE ONES THAT WORK FOR HER IN 'FIRST NATIONAL' PICTURES.

Both Pipgras and Coffman pitched splendid ball. Babe Ruth walked three times, the only passes in the games and beat out a bunt. Score:

AL VERTENTEN WINS 22 MILE BICYCLE RACE

Al Vertenten of the Henry Athletic association, holder of the state bicycle title, won the feature 22 mile handicap race in the thirteenth annual running of the Belgian American C. C. Derby at Humboldt park yesterday. Vertenten started from scratch, five minutes behind the leaders, thereby winning first time.

He covered the distance in 48:58 3-5 at an average speed of about 23 miles per hour. Schaller of the Franklin club finished second, a half a wheel length behind Vertenten. Bobby Thomas, Kenosha amateur, was third, with Al Waldack of the Belgian club fourth. Vertenten also won the class A 2 mile, and his brother, Walter Vertenten, romped off with the 2 mile class C.

Will Carnera Betray Fight Fans Tonight?

Primo probably would not have made any more than he has made with them, and the risks would have been much greater. These boys have been guilty of no sham at any time. They set out to build up their property and, pursuant to this purpose, they made arrangements against his defeat in any case.

His opponents were selected for their frail or tipsy condition, but, to make assurance a little more certain, two of them were waited upon by emissaries who said they hoped there would be nothing to mar the pleasant character of their dealings. The manager of another was impounded in his hotel during the exhibition, and another's eyes were burned with some irritant stuff, presumably oil of mustard.

No Pretense About It.

All this time there was no pretense that Primo Carnera was fighting any one on the level. It took rare ingenuity to track down some of the derelicts selected for Primo and, above all, it took a very superior kind of gall to conduct such a campaign. Managers of less courage might have taken alarm at the denunciations appearing in the papers all over the country and exposed Primo to the skilled assault of some pretty good prizefighter in a square bout but Mr. Duffy and Mr. See, who ran the tour, stood by their plans and rolled from town to town propping up and knocking over invalids and bums with an audacity that seems to me to command admiration, not contempt.

The customers on their part had no cause to complain. If this had been Gene Tunney, breaking the routine of such a trip to address the young on ethical topics, there would have been some ground for complaint, but Primo and his party practiced no deception and no man paid a dollar to see him perform who didn't know exactly what to expect.

I realize that in the present instance the boys have promised to fight on the level but that is what I would call a business lie, no worse than the little routine deceptions familiar in many professions. One can't expect them to issue a statement saying "The fight is a fake like all our other fights and Godfrey will take the water in round three." But, considering who they are and what they are, the customers have only themselves to blame if they are deceived by this and the boys certainly don't expect to be taken at their word.

So, altogether, I see no reason for indignation or scorn. In their way, the boys are honest men, and to fight an honest fight now would be a breach of trust, a betrayal of public confidence, deserving the censure of all right thinking citizens.

Kingfishers Turn Down Minnows; Consume Goldfish

BY BOB BECKER.

No longer content to feed upon small fishes caught in brooks, creeks and ponds, some of the kingfishers downstate are now turning to goldfish for a regular diet, according to reports coming to us from several towns.

This "criminal" tendency on the part of the kingfishers is just another example of a good bird gone wrong, spoiled by civilization. Forsaking their naunts in the country along the creeks and focusing their fishing activities upon the home owner's lily ponds well stocked with goldfish, the kingfishers did away with hundreds of the fish before it was discovered who the fish stealer was.

Although reports have reached us regarding kingfishers raiding the goldfish pools in Chicagoland in Eureka, Ill., as well as in Macomb, the kingfishers have been living high while extracting the goldfish from the pools of irate home owners.

H. D. Willis of Eureka writes us that when the goldfish began to disappear down there it was thought that the fish had been stolen or that cats were catching them. One owner who had lost several hundred fish kept a close watch and discovered that a pair of kingfishers were the guilty parties.

"This pair had come to town from a creek in the golf course about a mile from town. After discovering the pools and having a taste of goldfish they no longer cared for such plebian fare as ordinary minnows from a small creek. I suppose that the only way to protect the fish in the future will be to place a screen over the top of each pool [as I have already done] or else kill the raiders."

There are lots of kingfishers in northern Illinois and the central states. Inasmuch as these birds must live around water it is conceivable that they would move into most any fairly open section where an artificial pond or pool stocked with fish, frogs, etc., had been made.

DR. JULIUS KLEIN ADDS HIS PRAISE OF NEW TARIFF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 22.—[Special]—Assistant Secretary of Commerce Julius Klein, in a speech broadcast over a nation-wide chain tonight, lauded the flexible provision of the new Hawley-Smoot tariff law as marking a new era in tariff building. Under that provision, he predicted, the "extreme of logrolling, lobbying and rate swapping," which have contributed to the business uncertainties that attend every tariff revision will be replaced by science and reason.

Dr. Klein is the third administration official to publicly defend the new law in as many days. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in a statement Friday asserted that instead of retarding business recovery or injuring foreign trade the new law makes "a definite contribution to business stabilization." Last night Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont echoed Mr. Mellon's predictions.

Chart Course to Fixed Stars.

"Business, which has owed at least some of its recent troubles to uncertainty about the tariff," said Dr. Klein tonight, "can now chart its course under fixed stars instead of by the gyrations uncertainties of partisan fireworks."

Describing the flexible provision as "a most helpful instrument to be wielded for the public good," Dr. Klein pointed out that a reorganized tariff commission composed of recognized experts would determine and recommend rates to the President. If the latter approved the commission's findings, the new rates will replace those fixed by congress. No rate, he added, may be increased or decreased by more than 50 per cent.

Relieves Complex Conditions.

"In view of the extreme complexity of modern economic conditions," he said, "and the speed of developments in view, also, of the pressure of special interests and of sectional viewpoints upon the members of the congress during the framing of a tariff act—it would be truly surprising if there issued from such a struggle a measure devoid of inequities, incongruities and mistakes. Such unsatisfactory phases are admittedly present in the text of the new law. The primary purpose of the flexible provision is to permit the new tariff commission to correct them.

"The President has declared his intention to make it an effective means of removing any serious inequities or inadequacies that may be incorporated in the present bill—accomplishing that result through a prompt and scientific adjustment of the duties in the light of differences in production costs here and abroad, as well as other considerations in international competition which the new law authorizes the tariff commission to take into account."

Finds Trade Competition Now Is Between Industries

BY SCRUTATOR.

One of the interesting developments of present day economics is the growing acceptance of the axiom that competition is no longer a matter of strictly individual import; that instead it is an array of industry against other industries.

The idea was caught first by aggressive salesmen distributing goods to ultimate consumers. It was self-evident to them that a man with a fair sized income was faced with innumerable ways to spend it. After satisfying his primary wants, he could travel, buy more life insurance, build a house, purchase a new car, give his wife a fur coat, refurnish the home.

It even became readily known that a washing machine might mean the delay at least of a purchase of a new radio set, to get down to articles of smaller price. One of the most potent facts in connection with the rise of installment buying was that it tied up the income of the purchaser. If the tieup was for a comparatively high priced article, it acted as deterrent to the dissipation of the funds piecemeal.

But the great basic industries were slower in catching the new thought. Their competition was on a price basis. To put it plainly, a steel company believed that its strongest competitor was another steel company. The metal as a raw material was not pushed. The makers of specialized steel products going into final consumption of course followed the lead of other competitors and went out to show that—perhaps—galvanized sheets could be profitably used instead of tile, slate, copper, or composition roofing.

Lumbermen, through national associations, became alarmed some time ago at the decreasing per capita consumption of their product and have been active in promotion of grade marking and the dissemination of information concerning the real worth of lumber. Like the cement industry, they have made intelligent efforts to combat the inroads of other materials and have been measurably successful.

Sisson Cites Market.

The big steel men, seemingly, have not fallen in line with the new trend quite fully. Francis H. Sisson, vice president of a New York bank, recently called attention to this in a speech to manufacturers of flat rolled steel. He stated that the potential market for this type of material was more than 37 million tons and that the present sales were only about a million and a half tons.

His plea was for more coöperation of the basic producers with the specialists in research and advertising of steel's advantages as against other things that might be used in place of it. Sooner or later they will do it as a matter of self-defense. At present they are possibly farther behind in aggressive sales work than any other great basic group.

Events Focus Attention on Bond Market

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Recent events have focused attention on the bond market as a point of interest among the barometers which forecast the trend of business. A strong market is regarded as essential in stimulating business recovery and signs of an upturn in prices toward the close of last week were viewed favorably.

The upward trend in the highest grade railroad bonds and United States governments followed the reduction of the New York federal reserve rediscount rate to 2½ per cent, the lowest in the history of the central bank. This step was accepted in financial circles as assurance that credit would continue cheap throughout the summer, at least, and perhaps longer. Adjustment of other rates in the money market followed the unexpected announcement of the reserve bank.

Blame Share Weakness.

With the most favorable fundamental conditions for a rise in bond prices extant since the world war, the question now asked in financial circles is, "What will bonds do?"

The incongruous situation of bond prices sliding downward in the face of easy credit and the low level of commodity prices appeared early in the week. The weakness of the share market was held responsible for the reaction. Speculators sacrificed fixed income bearing securities either to bolster accounts impaired by losses in equity issues, or to buy stocks. The result was a shrinkage in the quoted value of bonds. Many lost the gains made in the last three months, and others established new lows for the year. The market quickly recovered its equilibrium with prices in the ascendancy but regained only part of the lost ground.

Sales Increase.

From a standpoint of sales, activity was at the high level of the year, and sales for the week represented an increase of $6,000,000 over the previous week. Sales so far this year are above 1929 but $200,000,000 less than 1928. Aside from the pronounced irregular course, and the strength lent U. S. government and prime bonds by the easing of money rates, a noticeable feature was instability of foreign bonds which were dressed up to receive the German annuities issue two weeks ago. Buying support waned and price movement was desultory in contrast with previous firmness. The new German bonds eased to the issuing price of 90.

RAILROADS WATCH U. S. ACTION AGAINST ELGIN, JOLIET & EASTERN RY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 22. — The action brought last week by William D. Mitchell, attorney general, to restrain the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway from transporting commodities of the United States Tool corporation may result in litigation of far reaching effect, it was said in railroad circles.

This road is controlled by the United States Steel corporation, and the action is brought by the government under the commodities clause of the interstate commerce act. This act makes it unlawful for any railroad company to move in interstate commerce commodities manufactured by it or under its authority, or in which the railroad, any controlling corporation, or any subsidiary has an interest.

The action was forecast in various ways. At the time Henry Ford sold the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railway to the Pennroad corporation it was understood this was done to avoid an action such as has been brought against the steel corporation. The D., T. & I., of course, carried products of the Ford factories.

When Mr. Ford sold the railroad, there was discussion as to whether some action in connection with the railroads owned by the steel corporation might prove a sequel. This belief was strengthened when Joseph B. Eastman of the interstate commerce commission expressed it as his belief that a commodities clause proceeding could be brought against the steel corporation for its control of the Bessemer and Lake Erie. Mr. Eastman expressed this opinion in his concurring opinion in the commission's general consolidation plan.

The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern is an Illinois corporation forming what is known as the Chicago Outer Belt line. The steel corporations owns all the capital stock of the railroad.

HAPPENINGS OF WEEK MAY BE INTERRELATED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 22.—The three incidents which stood out forcibly in last week's financial picture—the renewed and rapid fall in price for many staple products, the violent break on the stock exchange, and the fixing by the New York reserve bank of the lowest discount rate in its sixteen years of history—were in many ways interrelated.

Fourteen commodities, including not only nearly all the agricultural products, but such materials as copper, zinc, lead, tin, milk and rubber, went under the present year's previous low prices, many of them selling for less than their market has commanded since the deflation of 1921 or earlier. The stock market, which had not been prepared for these fresh reductions after the heavy decline of the year's preceding months, and which could not see clearly what their effect would be on business activities, readjusted its own values instantly to a lower level.

Confronted with evidence of progressively lighter need for credit facilities in trade, both because of the lower prices and because of greatly reduced activity, rates on the open money market had been falling to exceptionally low figures, and the cut in the bank rate followed.

Cites Abnormal Surplus.

For the recent fall of staple prices there were reasons in current obscurity. With wheat and cotton, the existence of a wholly abnormal surplus of supplies over current requirements has been notorious for a year. Producers and the markets had been reckoning vaguely either on short harvests in 1930 or on drastic world-wide reduction in planted acreage, whereby the new supplies would fall far short of current requirements, as they did in 1924. This has not occurred.

With certain foreign materials such as silk and rubber, foreign overproduction has apparently played a part. It has been greatly emphasized by the world-wide shrinkage in consum-

NEW FINANCING FOR TRI-UTILITIES EXPECTED SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 22.—New financing for the Tri-Utilities corporation, consisting of an issue of $5,000,000 5 per cent notes, due June 15, 1931, will be done shortly through G. L. Ohrstrom & Co. Proceeds from the sale of the notes will be used to acquire $2,500,000 principal amount of the corporation's 5 per cent convertible debentures, series due 1979, of which $12,500,000 are now outstanding, and to acquire additional income producing securities of subsidiaries. The notes and the debentures will constitute the only funded debt of the corporation.

Offering of an issue of $550,000 city of New Orleans, La., 4½ per cent bonds, of which $405,000 mature Jan. 1, 1952 to 1966, and $145,000 from Oct. 1, 1954, to 1979, will be made tomorrow by Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co. The bonds, which are issued for refunding, sewage, water, and drainage purposes, will be priced to yield 4.35 per cent. The city reports an assessed valuation of $626,209,987 and total bonded debt, including this issue, of $50,383,000.

Other new bond offerings expected: $93,339 town of Harrison, N. Y., 4.20 per cent bonds, and $210,000 town of Mamaroneck, N. Y., 4.30 per cent bonds.

EXPECT SPANG, CHALFANT & NAT. SUPPLY MERGER

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Wall street expects that formal announcement will be made Monday of consolidation of the Spang, Chalfant & Co. of Pittsburgh, and the National Supply company of New York, after final approval by National Supply directors. Reports said that National Supply will offer to exchange one-half share of its common stock and one-half share of preferred for every 3¾ shares of Spang Chalfant common. Spang Chalfant preferred stock and bonds will not be affected by the merger.

The Spicer Manufacturing corporation has taken over stocks, tools and patents of the Superior Universal Products corporation connected with that firm's manufacture of universal joints and will consolidate the business in Spicer's Toledo plant.

Reports in Wall street state that negotiations have been in progress looking toward absorption of the City Dairy company of Toronto by the Borden company. The reports said that at present it was not known whether these negotiations would result in an acceptable offer by Borden.

BATTLE ON MERGER OF BETHLEHEM-SHEET & TUBE CO. DEVELOPS

Youngstown, O., June 22.—[U. P.]—The billion dollar battle over the Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger has developed rapidly after a lull of almost two months.

Latest moves in the fight of Cyrus S. Eaton and other dissenting Sheet and Tube stockholders to prevent the consummation of the merger have been:

1. Judge David G. Jenkins issued a court order requiring Bethlehem to open its books to Eaton attorneys.

2. Judge Jenkins denied the plea of Bethlehem attorneys that Eaton's attorneys be ordered not to employ the Ernst & Ernest accounting firm to inspect the books.

3. Eaton attorneys prepared to search the books for evidence to support their claim that the merger was ratified by stockholders through "gross fraud."

The final and probably the most bitter fight of the struggle will come Wednesday, when Judge Jenkins will hear the suit of Myron T. Wick Jr., and other Eaton allies, asking for an injunction to prevent completion of the merger.

The Eaton suit charges that interests allied with Bethlehem bought up large quantities of Sheet and Tube stock, in violation of federal anti-trust laws, to swing the merger. A long series of depositions have been taken from Bethlehem officials for use in the suit.

Among testimony brought out by depositions was the statement that Pickands, Mather & Co., iron mine operators, spent nearly $9,000,000 for Sheet and Tube stock. Bethlehem attorneys claim, however, that Pickands, Mather & Co. is not a Bethlehem concern, but an independent company, independently interested in the outcome of the merger fight.

The objection of Bethlehem attorneys to Ernst & Ernst is based on their claim that the accounting firm is allied with Eaton, and serves Eaton's Republic Steel corporation and the Otis Steel company, in which he is heavily interested.

The merger, officially ratified by Youngstown stockholders, remains in abeyance, pending outcome of the suit.

CANADIANS BUY UP SECURITIES AT CURRENT LEVELS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 22.—Heavy purchases of Canadian securities originally offered in this market by American banking groups have been made here this week by Canadian interests taking advantage of the depressed condition of the stock market and the lower tendency in corporation bonds. During recent days many short term Canadian municipal loans have been made by Canadian banks without the aid of Wall street, which, according to bankers here, is an indication that Canada in the future will be less dependant upon New York for new financing.

It is notable that most of the American banking groups offering Canadian provincial, municipal, railroad and corporation loans have included several Canadian banks and that the latter have almost invariably placed more than their share of the securities offered in the home market.

Pittsburgh and Lake Erie 1929 Income Is $7,555,334

Kelsey-Hayes to Buy Wheel Plant from General Motors

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 22.—Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors corporation, announced today that negotiations had been completed whereby General Motors has sold to the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel corporation the plant and manufacturing facilities of the Jaxon Steel Products company, formerly engaged in the manufacture of wooden wheels and rims. "Incident to these negotiations," Mr. Sloan said, "General Motors has acquired the necessary patent rights covering the manufacture of wire wheels, and the production of such equipment will be set up in one of the other divisions of the corporation, where it is believed it can be carried on to the best advantage."

May Auto Production in U. S. Amounts to 417,154

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Automobile production in the United States in May totaled 417,154 cars, compared with 442,835 in April and 604,691 for May, 1929. Production for the five months ended May 31 totaled 1,883,616, against 2,679,511 in the like period in 1929 and 1,204,725 in the corresponding period in 1928.

Shrewd Investors Buy ... when the Mass Sells

The stock market is dominated by mass psychology. Bull markets and bear markets are both developed to extremes by this force. Success lies in not blindly following the crowd.

History proves that the investor who over a period has countered speculative opinion at critical points invariably has profited. He has bought when others were willing to sell at his price — not against the competition of a multitude of other buyers after a prolonged bull market. Large financial interests acquire stocks when uninformed speculators desire or are forced to sell.

The present offers unusual buying opportunities for those who believe in the industrial future of the United States and its major corporations — who are shrewd enough to buy outstanding common stocks at deflated levels. While it is humanly impossible to determine precisely the lows of any market movement the best financial and investment minds agree to the attractiveness of many high grade equities at current levels.

CHICAGO COPPER RULES ICELAND'S 28 POLICEMEN

Harold Jonssen Says Job Is "Pie" to Him.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 22.—The new police chief or this city, Harold Jonssen, was, until a few weeks ago, a Chicago patrolman attached to the Sheffield avenue station. He resigned from the Chicago force in order to take command of the new police force in the capital of his native country, in which he is now busy teaching the rudiments of police work.

Jonssen was born in the little town of Stykkisholmi, near Reykjavik, but moved with his family to North Dakota when five years old. He had been a member of the Chicago police force for the last three and a half years.

Bishop Recommends Chicagoan.

When it was decided to form an up-to-date police force, Minister of Justice Jonnson appointed Jonas Hermansson police commissioner and magistrate, and he began to look around for an active chief. Dr. Jon Helgason, bishop of Iceland, is a relative of the Chicago policeman and recommended his young relative for the job.

Chief Jonnsen said today that he looked for an easy job here.

"We have no crime, but little petty larceny, and occasionally a foreign sailor or fisherman gets gay in town and we have to lock him up," he said. "There is hardly any bootlegging, and the few drunks we have get that way on Spanish wine.

Carry Clubs, No Guns.

"Traffic regulations are being introduced, but that is easy. I have a fine force of 28 men, all eager to make good on their jobs. We do not carry guns, only little clubs, and we haven't had to use even this weapon yet. It is 'pie' being a policeman in Reykjavik, and I intend to make our little force the equal of the best in the world."

CONTINUE CASE OF YOUNG WALL STREET WIZARD

Ryder Faces Clients in Court; Gives Bond.

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Unshaven and haggard, Harold Russell Ryder, 37, until recently known as the "young wizard of Wall street" and the "millionaire playboy of Broadway," appeared in Tombs court today as a result of the $4,000,000 failure last Thursday of Woody & Co., brokerage firm in which he was a partner.

Immediately on his appearance, his case was put over till Tuesday at the request of the district attorney's office and he was continued in $10,000 bail on a charge of suspicion of grand larceny of $95,000 from a client of the brokerage house.

This charge, which alleges he failed to deliver securities for which he received the money, is the only specific accusation against him, but his partners, Charles L. Woody Jr. and Lucien A. Hold, as well as their wealthy relatives, friends, and acquaintances, who formed the bulk of the clientele of the brokerage house, want Ryder questioned about the disappearance of more than $4,000,000.

Credited with having run a shoe string into $15,000,000 on Wall street, Ryder's bank account now stands at $615, investigators said. He gave $200,000 to a college and spent lavishly along Broadway, distributing $100 tips to waiters and "adopting" several chorus girls. Texas Guinan hailed him as "the greatest sucker of them all."

An attorney for some of the brokerage firm's creditors, who was present in court, said he was there to do everything possible to expedite Ryder's appearance before a receiver.

FRANCE TO QUELL JUNGLE REVOLT WITH GUNBOATS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 22.—The ministry of marine is planning the construction of flotillas of gunboats to police the rivers in Indo-China and stamp out the revolt which is smouldering in the jungles.

One of the difficult features of the revolution in Indo-China is in moving bodies of troops rapidly. The method adopted by the rebels is to gather at little jungle villages and suddenly descend on a French settlement, as they did at Yenbay, then scatter as soon as the blow is struck. The only means of reprisal so far has been bombing the villages from airplanes, but this has proved expensive and unsatisfactory.

Naval experts believe that with gunboats it will be possible to search the heart of the jungle and effectively patrol the most dangerous sectors. Gunboats were largely used in effecting the conquest of Indo-China.

H. "Jeff" Meers, an American, should pay the death penalty for the killing of Antonio Visconte, bartender, who was shot Wednesday night in a Juarez saloon.

Plans were being made to smuggle Meers out of Juarez to Chihuahua City to prevent possible violence. Federal soldiers had been guarding the Juarez jail for several days.

Participants in the demonstration started to march toward the American consulate and, the home of Miguel Garza, Meer's attorney, but were stopped by police.

Meers, an El Paso youth, claimed he shot Visconte in the belief he was Manuel Villareal, who shot Meers' father in an attempted holdup in El Paso five years ago.

Too Excited to eat—
VACATION TIME

Give the boys and girls an extra glass or two of "Selected" Milk each day to help out.

Even though too excited to eat properly, children will drink "Selected" Milk, if it is offered them, because they love its "Sweet Natural Taste."

It's a wise mother that orders an extra bottle or two of "Selected" Milk right at this time, and remembers to have the children drink it several times a day, in addition to the milk consumed at meal time.

Milk is both food and drink. It will help to make up the deficiency if the child is not eating enough because of excitement or because the mind is more on play than it is on eating. In addition to its well known drinking qualities—its "Sweet Natural Taste"—"Selected" keeps better. Stays sweet longer. That is an especially well liked feature, in summer. These qualities that set "Selected" apart are the result of extraordinary safeguards that protect production at every step. Healthy cows, careful feeding, stabling, milking . . . immediate cooling of the milk, and keeping it cool to the moment of delivery at your door . . . the extra hooded cap that protects the lip of the bottle . . . are a few of the reasons for the better quality of "Selected."

It's easy to arrange a trial of "Selected." SPEAK to your Borden milkman; PHONE Franklin 3110, or MAIL the coupon.

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is apprehensive about the coming visit, because she had received just before sailing, a letter from Hermoine Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs. He had last heard that she was ill.

Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, Catherine is treated coldly by the servants. Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and she tells him of her vague fears.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner. While she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and a number of pictures and jewels missing. Jeanne says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine finds she is lying. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He cleverly put an investigator on the case. He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister.

Geoffrey discovers Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, is making a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's secretary, Mme. Baron, Miss Cushing's milliner, a widow whose maiden name is the family name of Mme. Bender, is announced.

A fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is burned to death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris the night before. The servants deny to Geoffrey that she came to the apartment. Geoffrey questions Edoardo, the butler, to Blom's office. He sends for his investigator to watch the apartment and then calls on the commissariat de police, who assigns Inspector Bazin to the case.

Catherine did return to Mme. Bender's apartment. Before retiring she smells smoke and finds it is coming from her cousin's room. The door is locked. She dashes to get help and arouse Jeanne, who fights with her to prevent her from opening madam's door. Then comes the butler, carrying a heavy candlestick—and then a crashing blow on the head robs her of consciousness.

Geoffrey's sister, Elspeth, meets him at the Bender apartment. She looks over Catherine's belongings and finds a hat Catherine wore on her visit at Fontainebleau. Geoffrey receives a telegram signed by Catherine, stating she is well and would telephone him on her arrival. After the first shock of joy he becomes doubtful about the message. He sends Elspeth to her train and returns to his home.

INSTALLMENT LXXIII.

A DECEPTIVE MESSAGE.

Geoffrey's father had read Catherine's message before sending it on, consequently at dinner there was little to discuss. The meal passed in strained silence. Geoffrey consuming food mechanically, while the other scanned with gloomy frown the evening papers' accounts of the fire. The occasional furtive glances directed at him by his father goaded him to irritability, for he was not difficult to read their cause.

"Whatever Miss West's reasons may be for her behavior," he protested gratingly, "she has given us a deuced deal of trouble and made us look like a couple of fools as well. If you enjoy this sort of thing it's more than I do."

"We may as well reserve comment till we know the facts," Geoffrey retorted curtly.

With a shrug the old man waddled the newspapers into a ball and strode from the room, reappearing for a moment to toss an envelope to his son.

"There's your report about the handwriting. The notes were forgeries clever enough—though much good it does to know it now!"

It was with feelings bordering on complete indifference that Geoffrey opened the enclosure. Indeed, so absorbed was he in his own contradictory reflections, he did not realize to what extent his father's ill temper was occasioned by a sense of failure in averting a calamity.

However determined he was to discredit Jeanne's abominable theory, he could not deny that Catherine's retirement looked decidedly strange. Then, thinking of her fearless eyes, her firm chin, and all the frank sweetness that had so unfeignedly Geoffrey refused to believe it of her, he reproached himself for his momentary doubt. Whatever odd things might seem, he must postpone all conjectures till tomorrow.

All at once, with a pang, he understood why he was so disturbed. Was he really going to see her? The vagueness of her message held something elusive—a quality summed up in a repetition of the phrase, "not like Catherine." That was it—it was not like her. What was it she had said?

"Overcome by frightful news unable go out but will telephone you tomorrow to explain my absence do not trouble yourself all goes well with me. . . ."

Suddenly he frowned, staring hard. Here was a combination of words he could not have expected an American to use. Surely the obvious thing to say was, "Don't worry, I'm all right"?

"All goes well with me." He repeated the stilted form, annoyed and perplexed. What did it suggest? At first the significance escaped him, then in a flash he knew. Why—it was pure French construction! Of course! Tout va bien was the equivalent was the phrase "tout va bien."

For a few seconds he remained stupefied, his brain in confusion. Then out of chaos emerged an awful, crashing truth. This telegram was not composed by Catherine at all. It was the concoction of some foreigner—some one with an imperfect knowledge of English idioms. It bore two glaring marks of falsity.

The revelation stunned him. How had he been such an unmitigated ass? Catherine would not, could not, construct sentences like those, the thing was impossible.

Catherine might or might not be alive, but instinct warned him that all hope of recovering her was lost unless immediate action were taken. His face clattered to the parquet behind him as he made a bolt for the door.

"So you are coming with me after all, monsieur? I promise you it may be a boring affair. Why—has anything new occurred?" he ended in surprise as he took in the Englishman's distraught bearing.

"Look at this again!" cried Geoffrey, thrusting the telegram under his nose. "It is worded in such a way that it could not possibly have been written by Mlle. West," and he hastily attempted to explain the two paragraphs contained in the message.

Blom listened with an altered face.

"You are sure of this? The English language is a sealed book to me. Perhaps you had better compare that paper with the original, which I arranged an hour ago from the Hotel des Postes," he added, producing a second written form. "None of the employés could recall who handed it in, but you will probably know if it is in the young lady's hand."

Hagerly Geoffrey seized the form.

"They are not the same," he pronounced positively. "See, all her own words separated from the other letters, while in the telegram they are joined on."

"I agree. They were never written by the same person." He fingered his chin with manifest excitement. "You are right, monsieur. This telegram is the work of some one who is anxious to put us off the scent, and for what mind—since the deception would surely have been revealed when Madame had failed to hear anything further."

"Then you think that whatever is planned will take place before morning?"

"I do. I was wiser than I knew when I arranged to have that house watched."

His face was grave as he got into the waiting car and motioned to Geoffrey to take the seat beside him. In another second they were circling the Place Victor Hugo.

"I have some more news for you, monsieur. I have now heard from the driver who brought mademoiselle home from the gare. He declares that he set her down at the private entrance at about ten minutes past twelve last night, and as he is able to furnish a satisfactory account of himself for several hours afterwards, we can safely eliminate him from the inquiry. So far as other driver has come forward, which leads us to assume that while your friend arrived at the apartment, she did not leave again."

"Furthermore, I have instituted a search at some thirty hotels in the Rue de Rivoli district, and while there may still remain some small place we have overlooked, it begins to appear a useless quest."

"Who do you suppose sent the telegram? Was it Blom?"

"Not in person, certainly, for he has been under strict surveillance all afternoon. If you had not had the good fortune to discover his connection with the affair last night's happening would have been regarded as a mere accident, with blame attaching to no one, least of all to him. As things stand, what with mademoiselle's disappearance and this deliberate attempt to make it appear a voluntary withdrawal, I now see that the situation is distinctly serious."

"You believe, then, that mademoiselle may be dead?"

"It may be as well to accustom oneself to the idea, monsieur," he said in a low voice.

Good Morning!

Did you see Frederick Lonsdale's stage play, "The High Road"? "Lady of Scandal" [perish the name—it doesn't mean a thing!] is the screen adaptation. The copy is not as good as the original. A fairly accurate one—but where the play charmed the picture drags.

Miss Chatterton as a nature's noblewoman of the stage is disappointing save in a couple of singing and dancing scenes where she is amazingly good. Her performance is tense and theatrical. She is determinedly Madame-X-y in a rôle that in no way demands her to be, and her British accent is the self-conscious and acquired one of the stage. But she wears some stunning clothes and is upheld by an excellent cast featuring Basil Rathbone, Frederick Kerr, Nance O'Neil, Cyril Chadwick, and Ralph Forbes—her husband. Sound, photography, and sets are splendid.

The Lonsdale story is an entertaining one, rich in humor and with a pungent punch at the end—which finale is not the conventional happy one, but goes to prove that all good English women need not necessarily belong to the aristocracy. We leave Miss Chatterton dancing with tears in her eyes—but dancing very well.

KIND: "Easiest Way" drama. Adapted from stage play.

QUALITY: Fair.

DIRECTION: All right.

PHOTOGRAPHY and SOUND: Excellent.

DIALOGUE: What you would expect.

ACTING: Satisfactory. Miss Griffith is rather limp and lifeless, but I suppose that a lady "framed" as is the one she impersonates, separated from her child and thrown out for the wolves to eat, would feel that way. She talks through her nose, though, and that is hard to take.

STORY: Not very convincing. The heroine is got rid of in a mean way by a husband who wants to wed another. Her child is taken from her. She becomes a show girl, who, virtuous for a long time in the face of Great Odds, chief odd being Mr. Forbes, finally succumbs to temptation, he being it, when she finds her baby has forgotten her. Enter wild parties, the Black Maria, jail and H. E.! Ted Willing [Mr. Forbes], with whom she has been living, really loves her you learn and in the last reel announces that a wedding ring shall bless their union.

REMARKS: This picture was made a long time ago but has been dancing in the streets with the censors. Ralph Forbes rolls his r's in the final scenes, having neglected so to do until that time. Why? The picture is for "Adults Only" and might be termed just a little old fashioned shocker.

Children, Attention! Sally Joy Brown's First Party Near

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Boys and girls, did you read the good news I had for you in yesterday's TRIBUNE? All about the enormous plans we are making for a glorious vacation of parties and outings? Well, for those of you who may have missed it, I'm going to tell you about it again.

Once a week during the summer months will find one hundred of us, both boys and girls, enjoying an exciting party some place in or around Chicago, and we're beginning this series of good times with a thrilling afternoon at White City amusement park. Herbert A. Byfield, president of the company, has invited me to bring one hundred of you for the afternoon of Thursday, July 3, and he promises fun and excitement in large measure.

There are rides in White City that will make your hair stand on end. They shoot you into the air at a tremendous rate of speed and just as you are beginning to wonder if you are up in the clouds, you find yourself down on the ground again. One of these rides, "The Flash," has a dip of one hundred feet almost straight down. Imagine the thrill of that!

And wouldn't you like to be a passenger on one of two trains that race side by side over hills, down dips, and around sharp curves? That's what we're going to be able to do on the Racing Coaster. After rides as breathtaking as these we'll be ready, I think, for the beautiful, enjoyable trip though Venice. Our gondolas will drift down the canals for one of the coolest, most inviting rides you've ever had.

And, again, for those who didn't read about all this yesterday, I'm going to tell you just what you must do to be one of my guests at this party. You see, I want to take with me the boys and girls who are most anxious to come, the ones who especially like this kind of a party. Who doesn't, you are probably thinking! I want you to write me a letter telling why you'd like to take part in this first celebration of the season and those who write the best letters will be selected. It isn't a bit difficult, as you'll find when you start your letter, because it's going to be such a good party and there are so many things to write about. All of the letters must reach me by next Thursday morning because on that day I shall read them and make the selections. The names of the winners will appear in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

Now these are the important things to remember: Be sure to include your name, address, and age in the letter and have it reach me by Thursday morning. That will give you today, tomorrow, and Wednesday to write and mail them. Each child must write his or her own letter, and address it to SALLY JOY BROWN, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, CHICAGO.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

The Answers.

Joseph Burns, 2707 Warren avenue, salesman—If I had the time I would like to drive to old Mexico. It would be a wonderful trip and I would take in all points of interest on the way. The good roads make it possible for such trips, and the many tourist camps enable one to do it at little cost.

Florence Coupe, 732 Bittersweet place, secretary — I would love to go to Europe with Vienna as my destination. I have read and heard so much about that romantic old city that I long to see it. To spend one month there would be my heart's desire.

Paul Peterson, 1722 North Kedzie avenue, electrician — Some quiet lake away from the public where I could fish, hunt, and eat at leisure. To get away from the clamor of the city is a great tonic for one's nerves. My year is never complete without three weeks of rest.

Marion Coupe, 732 Bittersweet place, model—I would sooner play golf than eat. Some where away from the city with a lake close by so that I might swim, too. In fact, I love all outdoor sports. It's a real treat to get out in the sun when one is cooped up all day.

Guy Correll, 1649 Humboldt boulevard, engineer—I would like to go up to British Columbia and Lake Louise, where the fish are starving for a plug of any size or shape. I have been there before and it is a real country. I like to ride, but fishing is my chief sport.

Movies Adopt Code of Ethics for Advertising

And Press Agents Will Cease Faking.

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—Believe it or not, the movie press agents are going straight! Cinemaland's publicity vendors and the advertising directors alike are going in for ethics. Faking in handouts to the press and untruthful, misleading and suggestive advertising is taboo.

A code which sets up definite standards for the guidance of advertising and publicity men, house managers and others in the motion picture industry has been signed—it is believed by Will Hays' dictation—by the publicity and advertising chiefs of all the leading motion picture producing and distributing companies of the United States, it was announced here today.

"1. We subscribe to the code of business ethics of the International Advertising association, based on 'truth, honesty and integrity.'

"4. No false or misleading statements shall be used directly, or implied by type arrangements or by distorted quotations.

"5. No text or illustration shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any religion or religious faith; no illustration of a character in clerical garb shall be shown in any but a respectful manner.

"6. The history, institutions, and nationals of all countries shall be represented with fairness.

"7. Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.

"8. Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine their authority.

"9. Specific details of crime, inciting imitation, shall not be used.

"10. Motion picture advertisers shall bear in mind the provision of the production code that the use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the necessities of characterization and plot.

"11. Nudity with meretricious purpose and salacious postures shall not be used.

"12. Court actions relating to censoring of pictures, or other censorship disputes, are not to be capitalized in advertising."

THE STAGE

THE "Garrick Gaieties," an intimate revue staged by the young cut-ups of the Theater Guild's organization, has become one of the most popular amusements of the New York summer stage. It is, in fact, a hit of such proportions that the management of the Guild announces the intention of sending it to Chicago next season.

This production is a "third edition," and when it is ready to travel, late in October, its program will be rearranged. The best numbers from the preceding editions of the "Garrick Gaieties," which were never seen outside of New York, will be inserted in place of the less vigorous skits of the current show; and, thus equipped, the present cast will head toward Chicago. The theater in which it will be lodged here has not been announced.

David Belasco will begin rehearsals today for his first production of the new season. The play is called "The Dancing Partner," and is an adaptation from the German. Alexander Engel and Alfred Gunewald wrote it; Frederic and Fanny Locke Hatton fixed it up for the American trade.

The leading rôles will be acted by Lynne Overman, Irene Purcell, Henry Stephenson, and Charlotte Granville. Two of them are recent memories of the Chicago playbills—Mr. Overman from "She's No Lady" and Miss Granville from "Let Us Be Gay." The secondary characters will be in the hands of Suzanne Caubaye, Jules Epailly, Gustave Rolland, Claudia Morgan, Mauricette Ducret, Germaine de Renty, Patrice Gridier, Ivan Servais, and Claire St. Clair. This list of names suggests that the French atmosphere is going to be thick. Mr. Belasco asserts that he interviewed several hundred members of the Actors' Equity association in order to form this cast.

The Dramatic League of Chicago seems to feel that a part of its mission is to introduce its audiences to the well knowns of the London stage. It imported an impressive list of British mimes last season, and has a promising collection under contract for its next program of plays, beginning in October.

Among the visitors from England who will appear under the league's auspices are Isabel Jeans and Raymond Massl, in "The Man in Possession"; Ivor Novello and comparly in "A Symphony in Two Flats"; a complete cast for "Six to Nine," in which all the characters are women; James Dale; and Edith Evans. Leslie Banks, who came over with "The Infinite Shoeblack" last winter, and Constance Collier, who was imported to star in "The Matriarch," will continue in the league's casts.

The league calls attention to the fact that J. Fisher White, who played the unforgiving father in "Thunder in the Air" at the Princess last fall, is now acting Iago in Maurice Browne's London revival of "Othello." Mr. Browne himself formerly had this role, but [much to his surprise] the London critics told him that he wouldn't do. So he promptly sent for the excellent Mr. White.

The Detroit Civic theater has closed its campaign for subscriptions with satisfactory results. In the course of the "drive" the Detroit board of education indorsed the work of the theater in a resolution which contained this statement among its whereases:

"Investigations show that less than 10 per cent of the children of school age have seen living actors upon an actual stage."

"Ada Beats the Drum," a play which has just closed a spring run in New York, is named as a prospect for the Cort theater here early in September. Mary Boland had the leading rôle, and says she will be glad to go on tour. C. C.

Aurora Will Raze Building in Which McKinley Was Shot

Aurora's largest theater, the Fox, which originally was the Temple of Music at the Buffalo exposition, in which President William McKinley was fatally wounded on Sept. 6, 1901 by Leon Czolgosz, was closed after the last performance last night. It is to be torn down to make way for a million dollar house to be built by the Paramount-Publix corporation.

President McKinley was standing on a platform in the Temple of Music at Buffalo greeting visitors when Czolgosz walked up and offered his right arm as though to shake hands. Instead he fired a shot from a revolver hidden under a handkerchief wrapped around his hand and the President fell. He died on Sept. 14.

After the exposition a committee of Aurora business men planning the erection of a coliseum journeyed to Buffalo to buy one of the fair buildings. They purphased the roof and framework of the Temple of Music and shipped it to Aurora.

Ravinia Opera Goers Thrilled by 'Three Kings'

Bori, Lazzari, Johnson, and Danise Win Praise.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It was not altogether fair of Mr. Eckstein and his artists out at Ravinia to take advantage of the emotions of a crowd of Sunday evening amusement seekers and subject them to such a set of thrills as came out of the performance of "The Love of the Three Kings." Somehow that seems a piece to be done to the accompaniment of storm swept skies before an audience fully convinced of the serious purposes of life.

But there is no question that the performance of this flaming music drama gave them something to think about. In fact, Lucrezia Bori, Edward Johnson, Giuseppe Danise and Virgilio Lazzari are by a wide margin my favorite group for the four principal participants of the work, and they will get my unhesitating vote as first choice in all of its representations that may come along in the future. Neither is there any delay in the choice of Gennaro Papi to conduct, an artist who from the first note to the last converted glowing music into still more glowing opera.

There is reason for special enthusiasm over the memory of the performance of Mr. Lazzari as the old blind king, a characterization as massive and impressive as one of the Apennine mountains over which he ruled. He was dominating in gesture, in voice, by force of personality, and in spite of many temptations he never over-acted.

There were a few places where his associates were led into a little extra emphasis of movement and expression, possibly overdone in itself, but scaled for a somewhat larger stage and auditorium than that of Ravinia. Not that "The Love of the Three Kings" needs much illustration of the sort. Its gorgeous book and still more gorgeous music carry its people along in its own current.

You would have been stimulated, however, at the sight of Miss Bori as she mounted the steps in the second act with brilliantly hued robe trailing behind her, stimulated at the sight and sound of the love scenes between her and Mr. Johnson in the first and second acts, scenes that would probably cause a few busy moments to the censors were they put into the movies, and incidentally one of the reasons why opera can continue to hold its own against the art of the films. But most of all there is a memory of the old bearded king staggering off the scene carrying his slaughtered daughter-in-law over his shoulder, her arms swaying from side to side while the orchestra thundered out its tragic funeral march.

In the afternoon there was a concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra conducted by Eric DeLamarter. Among its prominent features were a lively and stirring performance of Dvorak's New World symphony and a group of solos by Joseph Vito, harpist. If this artist continues upon his present course he will undoubtedly make the harp a popular instrument. He is something of a technical marvel, and he is able to put more personality into his playing than any harpist within memory. His own composition, a sherzo, which came at the end of the group, is one of the best pieces of harp music that has been heard in years.

Nelson Rockefeller and Mary Clark to Be Married Today

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—(AP)—Miss Mary Todhunter Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Clark, of "Willoughby," Cynwyd, a Philadelphia suburb, will be married tomorrow to Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. of New York.

The marriage ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock at St. Asaph's Protestant Episcopal church, Bala-Cynwyd, before a brilliant assemblage of the socially prominent of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities. The Rev. Benjamin N. Bird, rector of the church, will perform the ceremony.

A reception will be held at the Clark home after the wedding and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller will leave on a honeymoon trip that will take them around the world.

Bendixes May Move Into the Palmer Home

BY THALIA

The ultimate disposition of the Potter Palmer residence—it will probably continue to be known as that while its new ownership until the day it is razed—has been a matter of much interest and speculation, and scores of varied rumors have floated about since its sale to Vincent Bendix was consummated.

The latest gossip has it that the Bendixes themselves are planning to occupy the place for at least three years before anything else happens, and are now making plans to move with their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive into the mansion. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Bendix has as yet substantiated the report, but it seems likely inasmuch as the giant hotel for which the property was said to be purchased shows no signs of materializing just now.

Up a while the idea was rife that Mr. Bendix was to convert the house into some sort of a museum, probably a Swedish memorial, and more recently it has been said that he would grant its use to charities for affairs such as the Red, White, and Blue carnival held there on June 6 and 7. Mrs. Bendix is spending the summer at the Lawsonia Country club at Green Lake, Wis., and so it seems probable that the move will not be made before the fall.

Miss Kate S. Buckingham of 2450 Lake View avenue, who spends the greater part of every summer in the Berkshires, has opened her house at Bald Head mountain at Lenox, Mass. Other Chicagoans in that region include the Kimball Salisburys of 1415 Astor street, who are visiting Mr. Salisbury's mother, Mrs. Warren Salisbury at Tor court in Pittsfield; Miss Ruth Rumsey, daughter of the Henry Rumseys, who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss L. Coonley at Folly Farm, Great Barrington, and Frederick H. Rawson, who registered last week at the Stockbridge Golf club. Mr. and Mrs. Randolph G. Owsley [Alice de Golyer] of Lake Forest spent several days in Barrington last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Delano de Wolf and Mrs. Edward A. Leight Mallory with Dr. and Mrs. Robert Metz at Lenox for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Reid of 1000 Dearborn parkway are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter last Wednesday at the Lying-in Reese hospital. Mrs. Reid was Miss Elisabeth Senior Vairin before her marriage a year or so ago.

Chicagoans who are to sail on the S. S. Corinthia for a North Cape cruise, leaving New York City tomorrow, include Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, the James W. Boydens, Mrs. Christina Pomeroy, Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw and her daughter, Miss Theodosia Shaw. The members of the party will have a four day visit in Soviet Russia, divided equally between Petrograd, formerly the imperial capital, with its reminders of czardom, and Moscow, the new soviet capital. Besides, they will visit Iceland, which this year celebrating the millennium of its parliament, the North Cape, and the Norwegian fjords, Trondhjem, Bergen, Stockholm, and Copenhagen.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crane, formerly of Chicago, announced the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Claire Crane, to David Percy Williams of Overbrook, Pa., last week in New York City, where they now are living. She was graduated from Smith college last week and sailed on Friday night on the S. S. Statendam for Europe. The Cranes gave a debut tea for their daughter at the Fortnightly club last winter.

The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard of the Trinity church in Winnetka and Mrs. Gerhard, who are popular social as well as ministerial members of the community, have left for a month's vacation as guests of Col. and Mrs. Albert E. Pierce on the Pierces' yacht, Silversilver II., which is to cruise from New London to Bermuda. W. Scott McNeal is also a member of the sailing party.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine has been in New York City for a few days following her landing from a brief trip to Europe and has come on to Chicago for a few weeks before going to Southampton to open her summer home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hughitt Frost of Lake Forest and their young sons have left for Maine where they are to be for the summer.

C., June 22.—[Special.]—President Hoover, who is spending the week-end in the White House accompanied only by his son, Allan, and a little company at supper this evening, having canceled his fishing trip to his Rapidan camp and regretting his invitations to twenty guests to dine with him.

Mrs. Gann had a small company at luncheon today for her niece, Mrs. Hoover, who is making a short visit with her father, the Vice President.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

This tale might be entitled: "How Girls Get Thousand Dollar Diamond Rings," or, as men readers would vote in the words of the old circus adage: "Never give a sucker an even break!"

Apologies for the fourth word from the end. We hate to use it even if Barnum couldn't think up a better one.

C. J.'s story runs, in his own words and handwriting: He met a girl in 1927, who looked like THE GIRL. At first the girl was willing to attend church with her adorer both Sunday mornings and evenings. Then she began to find excuses as to why she couldn't continue the church going. Without his fair companion C. J.'s faith seemed to crumble. He abandoned the habit, too—and now lays the blame on the girl.

Well, every holiday, C. J. reports, is a day upon which this girl must be presented with some gift. "And they are mighty expensive ones," C. J. emphasizes. If the gifts aren't forthcoming the girl quarrels and carries on until, to quote C. J., "the love within me for her makes me give in and get her what she wants, though many times I have to make great sacrifices."

For weeks at a time now, Sundays excepted, the girl manages to have engagements at clubs, as she tells it.

Last May she announced that she wanted to look around for her engagement ring. She asked C. J. if she saw one she liked would he go to the jeweler's and look at it. C. J. agreed to take the look, but asserts that he did not there and then agree to buy it. Anyway, one day a call came to C. J. The girl raved about a stone she saw and asked the man to go look at it. He did.

"When I heard the price," C. J. tells, "which was $1,054.75, I decided I did not want to buy the ring. The jeweler sarcastically stated that the girl had ordered it. I told him I would not buy it and we started home. She nagged and quarreled until I gave in. I went back and gave the jeweler a check for a $100 deposit, arranging to pay the balance and get the ring within 30 days. I had to make a loan from the bank—but she got the ring."

The girl now, ring on hand, wants to call off the wedding. In answer to C. J.'s request for the ring's return the gold digging genie says: "My time was worth the price of the ring and all the other gifts."

Palette and Chisel Art Exhibit Will Continue to July

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Palette and Chisel club, 1012 North Dearborn street, has sent out an announcement that the current exhibition, which is the 36th annual exhibition of work by members, will be continued to about July 1, and the galleries will be open to the public from 1:00 to 10:00 p. m. during the run of the exhibit. Early in July the club is opening an exhibition of works in all mediums to which all the members are urged to contribute. This, the summer show, will remain on view until September.

In the current exhibit, "Mimi," an old oil painting by Othmar Hoffer, was awarded the Palette and Chisel club gold medal.

The Hoosier Art gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, is enjoying an interesting exhibition this month. The walls are hung with etchings and the artists represented are Ralph Fletcher Seymour, John Courtney Sandefur, Charles W. Dahlgreen, Frederick Polley, L. O. Griffith, Ernest Thorne Thompson and Karl C. Brandner. Mr. Griffith shows a remarkably brilliant group of colored etchings done in New Orleans. At the recent Hoosier Salon this past winter he was one of those to whom an important prize was awarded. Frederick Polley won the $200 etching prize given by Frank S. Cunningham.

In addition to the etchings there are also in the Hoosier gallery the pictures which have recently been returned from the Brooks Memorial museum, where they were on exhibit.

A colorful painting by Pierre Bonnard, lent from the Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester collection, has just been hung in gallery 45 of the Art institute. It is called "Vestibule" and shows a young girl in the left foreground carrying a plate, while just inside the door stands a woman looking down. The colors are high in key, great use being made of yellow, orange and light blue.

Bonnard was born in France in 1867 and is acknowledged as one of the important contemporary painters. He was a pupil of Cezanne and Gauguin and has been influenced by Manet and Renoir, carrying his researches into light and color even further than Renoir carried his.

Sodality Delegates Hear Plea for Cleaner Plays

Curbing the production of immoral plays and motion pictures was advocated yesterday before 2,300 young delegates to the Catholic Sodality of Our Lady convention, meeting at the Palmer house. The speaker, John Ducey, a 20 year old student of Holy Cross college, asked the sodality to refuse to attend such productions and thus cut down box office receipts. A banquet last night closed the convention.

Bishop Stewart to Tour Europe in Interests of Fair

The message of Chicago's Century of Progress exhibition in 1933 will be carried to a half a dozen countries of Europe during the next two months by the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, bishop coadjutor of Chicago. Bishop Stewart announced yesterday that he will leave Friday to represent the local Episcopal diocese at the Lambeth conference of Anglican bishops in London, called by the archbishop of Canterbury.

In London, Bishop Stewart will be the guest of the bishop of London at Fulham palace. On July 5 he will be received by the archbishop of Canterbury in the historic Canterbury cathedral. On the following day he takes part in the opening service of the Lambeth conference in St. Paul's cathedral, London.

At the close of the conference early in August, Bishop Stewart will tour England, Scotland and several continental countries where he will speak before various groups and organizations on the subject of the Chicago World Fair.

The Clever Gal, Dark or Blonde, Lets Dyes Alone

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Some years ago there was in the public eye a young woman whose great beauty was a topic for press and private extolling. She was 99⅓ per cent perfect, which is no mean batting average even for a publicly extolled beauty. The ⅔ per cent minus was not contributed by a mean rival eye. It was of the fair one's own making, manufactured out of what she deemed a slight defect in the shape of her nose.

Well, presently the lady occupied no position in the day's news. The secret of her retirement leaked out later. That nose defect grew and grew in the woman's imagination until she decided nothing short of an operation would do. Then, she would be a one hundred percenter—flawless, as it were. The operation was not a success. It didn't "darned near" ruin the young woman's looks. It ruined them completely.

I was reminded of her the other day when reading a comment from the well known couturier, Jean Patou, a recent visitor to our shores, on the recklessness of American girls in changing their hair tints from natural to colors that have nothing to do with the physical ensemble as nature planned it.

Behind such drastic steps one may righteously sense a furious desire to be not 100 per cent noticeably beautiful, but 105. Too, one senses an altogether unreasonable concentration on self and its lures, a fatal thing for real beauty.

In Hollywood, perhaps, changing hair color may have its economic phase. If blonde hair photographs best and your living depends upon photographing best, it becomes a regrettable demand but a seemingly necessary one. It is serving a pretty exacting master.

But if one's living depends upon no such thing, it is more than regrettable that young, nongraying hair is submitted to the dye or peroxide pot. It is a shame. Or, as the French couturier, also no mean beauty connoisseur, says, "It is not distingué."

That it is not distingué is the best criticism that can be made of hair forced to play a blonde or red part not of its own natural choosing.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. P. H. B.: EVERY CHILD should have his own wash cloth. After using it should be washed, rinsed and hung up to dry. It should be changed twice a week for a fresh cloth.

K. T.: THE CHIEF VALUE OF yeast is in its action on the bowels. Brewer's yeast, dry yeast, or yeast in tablet form may be used. The fresh compressed yeast sold at grocery stores is preferable. It may be taken alone or in liquid, or it may be spread on crackers, or bread. Exercises for constipation sufferers may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Food Talk

"An edible fruit belonging to the guord family" is the definition the dictionary gives for squash. This description, however, has not been sufficient to help us distinguish between squashes and pumpkins. Neither has the confusing literature of botanists nor the catalogs of seed men helped. We go right on calling pumpkins squashes and vice versa. An example: One of the most common and well known is that white skinned fruit with escalloped edges, usually called the Patty Pan or summer squash, where in reality it is a summer pumpkin.

There is one way, however, of telling the difference between squashes and pumpkins and that is by the stems. At maturity pumpkins have a hard, woody fruit stalk with distinct lengthwise furrows and often that part of the stem nearest the fruit appears swollen. Squashes when ripe have a soft spongy stalk which is not noticeably furrowed or swollen. There are many varieties of both squashes and pumpkins. And all are good foods.

In the United States, especially in the western part, much has been done in the culture of these fruits. Here large quantities of Patty Pans (summer pumpkin) and Zucchini (summer squashes) are grown. Both of these are just coming on the markets now. One interesting thing about these fruits (which are used as vegetables) is that they are marketed at all stages of maturity. It happens that they are just as good in the immature as the fully developed state.

In the immature state the skins and the seeds are so tender that it is unnecessary to remove them in preparation for cooking. All that is necessary is to wash thoroughly. The young Zucchini is delicious cooked whole. Its size does not make it necessary to cut the vegetable up. Patty Pans, however, cook more satisfactorily when cut up.

The majority of people find the flavor of summer squash and pumpkin pleasing, but there are few who realize their great possibilities. And so far we have made little headway in cooking them.

Forgot to Look at the Curtains.

Not long ago my niece moved to a new street where the houses are much alike. I jokingly told her I could recognize her house by the curtains.

One evening at late dusk I went dashing in to see her, not remembering to look at the curtains. I opened the door and dashed into a dark room, calling out loudly in a most inelegant tone, "Hey! Where're you at?"

To my amazement a strange lady roused up from the davenport, and a man reading a newspaper came from the next room to see the wild woman who had burst into their midst.

Embarrassed? I could scarcely speak even to apologize, and I got out of there as fast as my legs could carry me, into the next house, which was my niece's. S. W.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Speak to Him First.

"Dear Miss Blake: My boy friend and I had an argument. I insulted him. He later insulted me, but apologized. We do not speak. Shall I speak first? ANXIOUS."

He offered his apology, so it's up to you to speak to him.

Are you satisfied with the coffee you had this morning or have you given up in despair and decided that all coffees are flavorless?...

Perhaps you've been using coffee that cost so little that it seemed economy to buy it...

APPLE SAUCE.

1 lb. or 5 good sized apples ½ cup water ¼ cup sugar

Pare a thin peeling and slice. Add water and cook in a covered pan until soft. Add sugar and boil about five minutes longer. If old apples are used about twenty minutes of boiling will be necessary. Such apples will have to be mashed. New apples cook more quickly and require no mashing. Add 2 teaspoons lemon juice if apples lack flavor.

Yield: A scant pint, or 4 servings. One serving: Total—177 calories; protein, 4 calories; fat, 6 calories; carbohydrates, 167 calories.

PEAR CHEESE SALAD.

⅓ cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon cream
1 tablespoon of pear juice
1 teaspoon sugar
6 halves of pears
Green pepper
Lettuce leaves
¾ cup cooked salad dressing

Combine cheese, nuts, cream, pear juice and sugar and mix well. Fill cheese mixture into the cavities of the pears. Cut rings from green pepper to garnish. Serve on crisp lettuce with salad dressing.

CHOCOLATE TARTS.

2 squares bitter chocolate
⅓ cup sugar
¾ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
6 baked tart shells

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add sugar that has been thoroughly mixed with flour and salt. Blend well. Add boiling water and milk. Cook in a double boiler 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour chocolate mixture gradually over well beaten egg yolks, beating vigorously to prevent curdling. Return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes longer. Add butter and flavoring, cool slightly and pour into cold baked tart shells. Cover with meringue and brown to the preferred color in a slow oven.

Bridal Dress Worn at Famous Paris Wedding

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The outstanding event of the social season in Paris is the marriage of the Honorable Anne Tyrrell, daughter of the British ambassador to France, to Adrien Holman, secretary of the British embassy. What the first British bride to go to the altar of Notre Dame cathedral in Paris since Mary, queen of Scots, wore for this splendid ceremony is a standard set for formal weddings.

Molyneux designed for Miss Tyrrell the silver brocaded georgette frock shown in our sketch, a flawless bridal dress, for the greatest wedding that Paris has seen in many a season. This frock will be worn again when the bride is presented at the court of St. James's.

The lines of this famous wedding frock are the princess lines of the haute mode in Paris—slender, princess and very simple. The hemline of the skirt reaches the instep in front and touches the floor in back in the smartest manner. A trailing panel of brocaded georgette is attached to the shoulders and will be worn only for state occasions. The cut of the sleeves, in one with the sides of the blouse, is a distinctive detail of smart fashions. There is a slight drapery at the normal waistline, and curved pieces are set on at the sides of the skirt.

Give the Children Miniature Beach, Sea to Play With

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

If you want to enjoy nature with your children, write to Mrs. Bevans for a list of books on the outdoor world, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We are finishing up this week the subject of playthings for children which lapped over from last week. It will be necessary to condense in order to get in as much detailed practical suggestion as possible, the purpose of this series of articles for little children of nursery school, kindergarten, and the first year in the primary grades. So we'll get down to bare facts.

Play with sand and play with water are two of the greatest delights of young children. A sand box, well built and zinc lined, with a cover to keep it protected from dirt and animals when not in use, is the theater for many kinds of splendid play—play with the sand itself, play with toy animals, and the building of towns, mountains, valleys. Sand play is almost always carried on cooperatively with other children.

If children are really to do anything with the sand it must be moistened. Except for the tiniest children, some utensils and toys are necessary for sand box play. Among these are small shovels, pails, hose, bowls, cups, spoons, and regulation sand toys.

Also small toys enrich the sand play—little dolls and little animals make sand houses and villages, farms, and countryside more interesting. One does have to hunt hard for small animals. In addition, to get them built in proportion often is impossible—a cow and a lamb or an elephant and a dog being often of the same size. This last year some of the 5 and 10 cent stores had well made and excellently modeled little animals. Noah's arks supply us with animals, though some of them are incredibly crude.

Houses and trees can be made by the children or some grownup with a little ingenuity, plus a paint box and simple materials—like cardboard, wood veneer, sponges, etc. A jigsaw is a valuable tool if you are a grown person who likes to make things for the children.

As to playing with water—I sometimes wonder if any little girl or boy has ever had enough of it. If you have grounds about your house, let your children have fun with the hose and with the watering can. Or, if you haven't, then, with your purse in hand, go forth and buy a really large round pan—a yard across isn't a bit too big. All sorts of play can go on in this—sailing boats, fishing, etc. And, charm of charms, it doesn't take up any space because it can be emptied and dried and put away when not in use.

It is scarcely necessary to give information about purchasing any of the articles mentioned here, as the toy departments are advancing by leaps and bounds in their supplies for children, and the house furnishings departments and a good carpenter can do the rest. A few addresses will be given, if desired, on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"I have a knitting machine to give away. It is in good condition and if you know of some one who can make use of it I shall be glad to hear from you. A. G."

If you have a large family of children you will find that a knitting machine is a great help where stockings, sweaters, and scarfs are concerned, or you may even be able to earn a little with it. Write me if you are interested in getting it; please do not telephone for it.

Anxious for Verse.

"If any of your readers can give me a copy of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poem, 'Laugh and the World Laughs with You,' I shall be most grateful for it. I have tried to find it in our local library, but have been unable to do so. M. M."

Does your library include Miss Wilcox's poetic works? If so perhaps you can accommodate this reader with a copy of the verse she is so anxious to secure.

FAMILY DOCTOR MADE MILLIONS OF FRIENDS

Fifteen years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became famous for a single prescription, which now, after forty years, is still making friends.

Today Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people never think of using anything else when they're constipated, headachy, bilious, feverish or weak; when breath is bad, tongue coated, or they're suffering from nausea, gas or lack of appetite or energy.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made today according to the original formula, from herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant-tasting; thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Minnesota plans to honor a new variety of raspberry called "Chief" in a christening ceremony July 18 at the university fruit breeding farm near Excelsior, Minn. Plans are well under way, although the proper system of christening a raspberry still is a puzzle to those developing the program for the event.

The Latham raspberry now is well known over the United States, not only in berry producing areas but also in canning factories and in homes. The newest variety developed by the Minnesota experimenters is an offspring of the Latham.

Raspberry culture has grown rapidly in the north central states in the last five years, reports indicate. In Minnesota interest in the industry was indicated recently when the state horticultural society conducted a contest to name the new berry. Tours of the university fruit farm will be a major part of the Raspberry day program, which includes the christening.
